Goldwater Wins California Victory

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater swept to a stunning California victory and a commanding position today in the Republican presidential race.

By a narrow margin, the Arizona senator captured a rich bloc of 86 delegates from Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in California's showpiece primary Tuesday.

Rockefeller captured most of the state's 58 counties, but a decisive surge for Goldwater in late Southern California returns, chiefly from Los Angeles, nailed down the bitter contest for the Westerner.

Results from 29,800 of 32,861 precincts showed: Goldwater, 969,957; Rockefeller, 938,386.

The victory in the last presidential primary before the July 13 GOP National Convention brought Goldwater within striking distance of the 655 votes he'll need for the nomination.

He called it a "giant step" toward his quest to lead the Republican ticket in the November election.

GOP National Chairman William E. Miller said the California results pushed Goldwater very close to the 655 convention votes needed for the nomination.

Gov Mari O. Hatfield of Oregon, who will serve as convention keynote speaker and temporary chairman, said the senator appeared to have clinched the nomination.

Goldwater flew to Washington after watching early results flow into his Los Angeles headquarters. He claimed victory at 8 p.m. Tuesday on the basis of electronic computations.

The final outcome wasn't definite, however, until Los Angeles, with 40 per cent of the state's vote, reported the bulk of its ballots — and Goldwater maintained his commanding lead there.

U.S. Is Mightiest Nation on Earth, Johnson Declares, Pledging Peace

By ALVIN SPIVAK

NEW LONDON, Conn. (UPI)—President Johnson said today the United States is stronger than the combined might of all the nations in the history of the world. He said this improves prospects for peace.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the Coast Guard Academy commencement here, Johnson predicted that American strength would continue to grow more rapidly than the might of all other nations.

He said United States' superiority extended over the ability to deter atomic destruction, the ability to fight less than all out war, strength in the struggle against subversion, development of new weapons for deterrence and defense, and the ability of the American fighting man.

"Those who would answer every problem with nuclear weapons display not bravery but bravado, not wisdom but a wanton disregard for the survival of the world and the future of the race," Johnson said.

This country's military might allows it to take more tangible steps toward peace than at any time since the cold war began, Johnson said.

"And we will welcome any other proposal by any nation which promises realistic progress toward peace," he said. "It requires patience and understanding to continue the search for peace while our adversaries so beset us. But this is what we must do. It is what, God willing, I intend to do."

The President said he hoped this country, in a day not too distant, will be able to "lay aside its awesome power, and direct all its genius to the betterment of man."

Later, the President, in an address prepared for the keel-laying of a new nuclear submarine at Groton, Conn., further stressed the relationship between purposeful power and peaceful purposes.

"There are those who oppose freedom and security," he said. "They seek by fear and subversion to thwart man's hopes for peace. If they do not understand our motives for peace, we must be sure they do not misunderstand our means of power."

At another point, he asserted that "a nation with unbeatable military power can still be toppled if it does not preserve its power."

Superior Military Capability Of U.S. Cited by Gen. LeMay

By RAY HERST
Gazette Telegraph Staff Writer

The U.S. has a clear margin in the power struggle with the Communist world, Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, Air Force chief of staff, declared here today at the Air Force Academy commencement exercises.

He said that there was no such thing as "mutual stalemate" or "mutual deterrence" in current world situation warning the 493 graduating cadets to continue support for the maintenance of U.S. strategic advantage.

"There is no evidence of stalemate in the present power balance. It still favors us by a clear margin," Gen. LeMay told the cadets and the approximately 5,000 persons watching the ceremonies.

The speaker said that the balance of power cannot be determined by military strength alone. He said that balance is determined by "relative pace of actions going forward in all areas of national endeavor —social, economic and military."

The U.S. has a lead in all of these, LeMay said.

"In the military area modern weapons have increased the dynamic character of our preparations for defense. We now gain our security, not from geographic isolation, but from the continuous maintenance of superior military capabilities," he said.

Turning to the argument that the present world situation can be described as "mutual deterrence," the ranking officer said that no such situation exists.

"The 'mutual deterrence' theme obviously assumes that the U.S. and the Soviet have experienced a mutual threat," he said. "That assumption fails to recognize that U.S. monopoly of nuclear delivery systems during the late '40s and early '50s presented the Soviet with no threat of aggression."

He said the argument also

1,000 Policemen Mobilized To Stop New York Gangs

NEW YORK (AP) — Nearly 1,000 policemen soon will be patrolling New York City's streets and subways on an overtime basis in a campaign to halt attacks by Negro hoodlums on whites.

The additional patrols were ordered Sunday by Mayor Robert F. Wagner, who said: "I am determined we are going to have law and order in this city of ours."

The order came two days after the Memorial Day weekend hooliganism on four subway trains and a Staten Island ferry. Bands of Negro teen-agers terrorized, robbed and beat whites.

Wagner also ordered all 20,000 patrolmen to wear their uniforms to and from work. Most travel by subway.

He ordered a speed-up in the installation of an experimental two-way radio network in subway trains. One Manhattan subway line is expected to get such a system in four to six months.

Wagner expressed concern over the anti-white rampages of Negro gangs, but he added: "There are other gangs in the city besides Negro and Puerto Rican; there are white gangs."

Civil rights leaders have deplored the attacks, but say frustration of Negroes in their search for adequate education, employment and housing is responsible.

Wagner met with police and Transit Authority officials for an hour and then announced that within two days 500 city patrolmen would be assigned to the streets and 200 transit police to the subways, both groups on overtime.

Each patrolman on the force will be required to work an extra eight-hour tour from 6 p.m. to 2 a.m. every 20 days.

Cape Canaveral Is Still There, Mail Discloses

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Many a stamp collector is learning that, while the missile center was renamed Cape Kennedy, the city still is Cape Canaveral.

Stamp collectors have deluged Postmaster Lyle Meadows and his four clerks with "first day covers." These are decorated envelopes, bearing the new John F. Kennedy stamp, which collectors send in to be mailed back with the postmark they want as a souvenir.

The City Council rejected a suggestion that the community's name be changed to conform with the cape's name change.

Another Korean Student Revolt Is Smashed

BY C. S. CHIN

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Thousands of rioting South Korean students demanding ouster of President Chung Hee Park overran police positions in Seoul today, but a march on the presidential mansion withered before determined army opposition.

Hundreds of students advancing from the demonstrating mob of 10,000 students and adults stormed barbed wire barricades before the National Assembly, forcing police and soldiers to retreat into the Capitol compound.

American Aid 'Expansive' In Laos Jungle

BAN NA LONG, Laos (AP)—A company of right-wing troops in this desolate Laotian village has found American aid a trifle too expansive.

A supply of rubber-soled canvas combat boots arrived the other day as part of U.S. assistance to the little kingdom's anti-Communist forces.

Only one man, the biggest in the company, found a pair he could use. The boots ranged in size from 10 to 12F. The average Laotian soldier wears a 5 or 6.

Rusk Says Reds Must Understand U.S. Asia Defense

By DONALD H. MAY

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today on returning from high policy conferences in Hawaii that the United States' commitment to defend Southeast Asia must be "fully understood" by the Communists.

Rusk made the statement shortly after he and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara arrived by jet from Honolulu where they met with other top diplomatic and military officials on the Southeast Asia situation. Rusk said he and McNamara planned to report to President Johnson later today after the President returns from a half-day trip to Connecticut.

Rusk told reporters at the airport that the two days of the Honolulu policy talks, which included high officials from Washington and from the field in Southeast Asia, were "fully profitable and from an operational point of view very important."

Rusk said the conferees came up with some recommendations for Johnson but he did not spell them out.

McNamara told newsmen that the Honolulu talks — presided over by Rusk — dealt with highly complex problems including how the United States can best help Premier Nguyen Khanh in South Viet Nam's battle against Communist guerrillas.

Dad Stunned, Happy at Birth Of Quadruplets

NEW YORK (AP)—"I'm happy; I'm stunned," says the father of quadruplets. "I hope God will get me a good job in the construction industry."

Salvatore Peloro's wife, Maria, 30, gave birth to the quads Tuesday. She and the infants were reported in satisfactory condition today. The boy weighed 2 pounds, 13 ounces and the girls 2 pounds; 2 pounds, 8 ounces; and 2 pounds, 13 ounces.

The couple has two other children, aged 3 and 5.

Peloro, 35, a plumber, says he hasn't worked since last November and his unemployment benefits ended two weeks ago.

Sheriff's Men, Patrol, Help in Hunt for Gunmen

A sheriff's office force and state patrolmen cooperated in an interstate effort Tuesday night, setting up roadblocks to capture two suspects in a Colorado jailbreak and kidnaping.

The suspects were caught in Garden City, Kan. They are Jesse Roberts, 39, and Richard K. Kraus, 36. Hal Kane, assistant Garden City police chief said they would be returned to Colorado authorities.

The roadblocks set up on highways east of Colorado Springs were for the purpose of a possible intercept of the suspects who escaped from the Lit-

Typhoid Epidemic Marks Aberdeen as 'Pariah City'

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP)—The growing typhoid epidemic in Aberdeen has turned Scotland's leading resort into a pariah city.

The epidemic, which has caused the death of one woman, continues unchecked. The total of identified cases reached 241 today and 30 suspected cases were under observation.

Coming at the start of the tourist season, the outbreak already has cost Aberdeen hundreds of thousands of dollars.

As a government inquiry sought the cause of the outbreak, Secretary of State for Scotland Michael Noble ordered two brands of corned beef removed from store shelves throughout the country because Aberdeen health officials believed one of them had spawned the epidemic.

Noble told the House of Commons, however, that there was no positive evidence that the two brands—both South American—were responsible. It had not been established, he said, that corned beef was to blame.

But Dr. Ian MacQueen, chief public medical officer of Aberdeen, a city of 186,000 told a news conference: "There is no shadow of doubt that this outbreak started from a tin of corned beef."

MacQueen came into conflict again with Noble when he said

Wasson Senior Is Presidential Scholar for 64

Wasson High School senior Deborah M. Baumgartel has been selected a presidential scholar for 1964.

She and 120 other of the nation's outstanding high school graduates have been invited to Washington next Wednesday to meet President Lyndon Johnson at the White House.

"It was a complete surprise. I didn't apply for this," Miss Baumgartel said this morning. She was notified of her selection by telegram.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Nancy T. Baumgartel, 2134 Pheasant Place.

Last week she received a National Merit Scholarship to Stanford University, Palo Alto, Calif.

Rocky Winner In New York Primary Vote

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller repelled attacks on his home-state delegation by partisans of Sen. Barry Goldwater and today was assured of at least 87 of New York's 92 votes for the Republican presidential nomination.

Rockefeller lost one delegate to the Republican National Convention to Goldwater in a district the governor had not contested. The four other delegates are uncommitted.

Rockefeller won 77 votes in Tuesday's primary and will gain another 10 when the Republican State Committee, which he controls, meets June 11 to select delegates at large.

State Chairman Fred A. Young said the New York delegation "will be the hard-core nucleus of a national delegate movement which, I am confident, will lead to his (Rockefeller's) nomination."

There were direct clashes between Rockefeller and Goldwater delegate slates in 10 districts, a total of 20 delegates.

By WALTER R. MEARS

The senator flew from Los Angeles to Washington and said upon his arrival that he would stand on the election night statement in which he claimed victory on the basis of computer projections.

Police hustled one man off Goldwater's jet airliner in Los Angeles and made him unpack a satchel. Airport policemen said the man told a stewardess "I have bombs and machine guns in there." After looking through his bag, police and airline officials let him reboard the plane.

Queens Rule Nations, but Princes Rule Royal Homes

By EDDY GILMORE

At least that's the way it is with a pair of the world's best known princes—Bernhard of the Netherlands and Philip of Britain.

Eleven years ago Bernhard gave the following advice to his friend Philip:

"To succeed as both husband and subject, I believe you need a tightrope walker's sense of balance and an understanding wife. In the nation it is my wife who rules. In my home it is I."

Prince Bernhard, the husband of Queen Juliana, gave the advice to the husband of Queen Elizabeth II in 1953, shortly before her coronation. The prince of the Nethelands volunteered it in an interview with a former Dutch court reporter, Donald Canter.

There is nothing to suggest that Prince Philip doesn't follow the advice. There is, however, a slight suspicion that Prince Philip doesn't have his way all the time.

Lord Kinross has said that Queen Elizabeth once asked a woman friend: "What do you do when your husband wants something badly and you don't want him to have it?"

"Well, ma'am," the queen's friend is reported to have replied, "I try to reason with him and dissuade him and sometimes we reach a compromise."

To this Her Britannic Majesty is said to have retorted: "Oh, that's not my method. I tell Philip he shall have it, and then make sure he doesn't get it."

But, according to persons close to the British throne, there is overwhelming evidence to suggest that Prince Philip rules the British royal home as surely as Bernhard does the one in Holland.

For instance:

—The queen opposed Prince Philip flying. He flew.

Carrier Collides With Ship in Chesapeake Bay

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The aircraft carrier Lake Champlain and the Norwegian motor vessel Skauvaag collided in dense fog in Chesapeake Bay at 3:30 a.m. today.

Atlantic Fleet headquarters said no injuries were reported on either ship.

Fire broke out in two of the Champlain's hangar deck bays but were put out in 45 minutes.

Both ships were damaged in the collision, which occurred 38 miles south of Annapolis, Md., near Patuxent River, Md.

The Champlain reported she had no underwater damage. The Skauvaag reported to the Champlain that she needed no assistance.

On May 6, the Lake Champlain and the destroyer Decatur collided 140 miles east of Cape Henry. There were no injuries on either ship, but the Decatur's superstructure was damaged heavily.

Bolivian President Reported Reelected

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—About 60 per cent of Bolivia's voters apparently voted for President Victor Paz Estenssoro's re-election last Sunday despite opposition calls for blank ballots.

Unofficial reports said 85 per cent of the country's one million registered voters cast ballots and 70 per cent of these were for Paz, who won his third four-year term in office. Opponents of Paz pulled out of the race and he ran unopposed.

Army and police patrols were doubled Monday in the mining center of Oruro, where tin miners led by Vice President Juan Lechin were on strike.

He was leaning over the side of his motor boat at Lake Kanopolis when a sneeze sent his false teeth to the murky lake bottom about 12 feet below. He sought the services of two members of the Barracuda Skin Diving club, who found the dentures in a bed of clam shells after about 15 minutes of diving.

Bolivian Politicians End Hunger Strike

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Two former allies of President Victor Paz Estenssoro ended a four-day hunger strike against his re-election Tuesday night but said they would try to unite political opposition to the president.

Vice President Juan Lechin and former President Hernan Siles Suazo said they were joining the Authentic Revolutionary party and would call on other opposition political parties to join against Paz Estenssoro, who won a four-year term Sunday.

Lechin, Siles and all other opposition candidates withdrew from the election, contending that Paz Estenssoro did not have the constitutioal right to succeed himself.

U.N. Observers Proposed for Southeast Asia

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. Security Council got a proposal today that it send three members to Cambodia and South Viet Nam to study how to stop border troubles. Complications were expected from the Communist side.

The Ivory Coast and Morocco sponsored the resolution for a council fact-finding mission. A Communist diplomat said Czechoslovakia might introduce amendments to "strengthen" the resolution at the council's meeting today to continue debate on the border dispute.

A Western diplomat expressed fear that the Soviet Union would insist that Czechoslovakia be put on the committee.

Another Western delegate said the committee was likely to consist of Brazil, the Ivory Coast and either Bolivia or Morocco, which with Norway and Czechoslovakia make up the nonpermanent membership of the 11-nation council.

Council President Arsene Assouan Usher of the Ivory Coast said all 11 council members and Cambodia had agreed to the resolution.

A Communist source said Cambodia had accepted it only as a compromise, disliking the provision for the U.N. committee. He said the U. S. had refused to vote for the resolution unless that part stayed in.

Cambodia accused South Viet Nam and the United States before the council of aggression in attacks this year on two Cambodian border villages. The United States and South Viet Nam denied aggressive intent, and the United States said that only on one occasion did U.S. advisers enter Cambodia. Both countries said the border crossings were mistakes and came in pursuit of Communist rebels fighting South Vietnamese forces.

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

RE-ENTRY: The National Aeronautics and Space Administration says the huge Saturn-Apollo satellite combination re-entered the atmosphere and burned up on its 50th orbit.

It also disclosed that motion picture film ejected from the Saturn launch vehicle after lift-off May 28 showed that one of its eight engines shut down 24 seconds early.

The spacecraft's performance was so close to the expected, NASA said Monday, that it was not until the film had been recovered and analyzed that the engine difficulty was determined definitely.

The 80-foot-long, 37,300-pound satellite, an unmanned version of the Apollo moonship with the burnt-out second stage attached, re-entered the earth's atmosphere at 7:30 p.m. EST Sunday. The satellite was launched from Cape Kennedy, Fla., at 12:08 p.m.. May 28.

AID: Six Republican congressmen say increased aid for South Viet Nam could be taken from money now being spent in wealthy industrialized nations.

The six presented their views Monday in a minority report filed with the House Foreign Affairs Committee on the $3.5-billion foreign aid bill.

They cited refund claims totaling more than $24 million which remain uncollected on foreign aid monies the United States claims were wrongly spent by recipients.

They also noted that no specific amount has been allocated for South Viet Nam of the $1,055,000,000 provided in the bill for military aid. They said that $53 million designated for "three fully economically viable countries"—Denmark, Norway and Japan—could go to South Viet Nam.

The six Republicans are Reps. E. Ross Adair, Indiana; H. R. Gross, Iowa; E. Y. Berry, South Dakota; Edward J. Derwinski, Illinois; James F. Battin, Montana; and Vernon W. Thomson, Wisconsin.

Another GOP member of the committee, Rep. William Broomfield of Michigan, said in a separate statement he would press for an amendment to earmark an extra $200 million in military assistance for South Viet Nam so that "we will become the master of events" there.

INDIA-ARMS: U.S. authorities have delayed final decisions on a government of India request for $550 million in military assistance over the next five years.

Officials indicated Monday that the decisions which were near at the time of Prime Minister Nehru's death last week must now await a shakedown period for his successor, Lal Bahadur Shastri.

Viet Army Man Says He Is Not Guilty

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Vietnamese Army Maj. Dang Sy pleaded innocent today to a charge of "attempted and premeditated murder" in connection with a bloody incident in Hue that precipitated the Buddhist crisis last year.

Dang Sy, 37, went on trial before a nine - man revolutionary court similar to tribunals that sentenced Ngo Dinh Can, brother of the late President Ngo Dinh Diem, and Can's aide Phan Quang Dong, to death last April. They were shot May 9.

Eight persons were killed and 15 wounded after Sang Sy's troops opened fire to quell a Buddhist demonstration in Hue on May 8, 1963. The demonstration was held in defiance of a government ban.

Dang Sy said he was acting under orders from his superiors to maintain order.

The major denied he threw any grenades himself, as the prosecution claims. He also denied his troops fired at the crowds and threw grenades among them.

By STEVE TILLMAN

WASHINGTON (Special to the Gazette Telegraph) — If and when Congress initiates hearings on a new pay raise for the military, the Department of Defense will take the official position that any pay raise should be applicable only to active duty personnel.

This will not serve to stop non-active duty personnel of the National Guard and the Reserve from earning longevity for pay purposes, but the new pay scale would be applicable only when the individual assumes an active duty status. The pay of one day for each authorized drill would remain as prescribed under the 1963 pay law.

Tha Pentagon spokesman will also suggest, when the congressional hearings are under way, that the proposed annual review of military pay not include any increase for active duty enlisted personnel with less than 20 years of active duty.

According to Lt. Gen. W. H. S. Wright of the Army, the National Guard and Army Reserve units may have less than the standard 30-day alert in the next real mobilization. This will be especially true of early deployment units.

Reserve Officers Association has recommended to the Rivers' House subcommittee the establishment of a contributory system for military personnel, active and retired, regulars and reserve, to assure continuation of hospital and medical care.

Active duty Army Reserve officers are generally retired after they have completed 20 years of active duty. Reserve leaders are urging that these Reservists remain on active duty for the maximum time unless retired for disability.

Reserve Officers Association does not look with favor on a proposal by the Veterans Administration to take over control of the military retired pay budget. Notwithstanding great savings in administrative costs if the plan is adopted, the Reserve Association says its members do not look with favor on the idea.

The Department of Defense has asked the Federal Court to dismiss a suit filed by an employe of the Naval Repair Facility at San Diego which had challenged the right of the secretary of defense to close down the facility without first consulting the Armed Services committees of Congress. The Pentagon maintained that this consultation is not required.

Mail from active duty personnel to members of Congress is overwhelming. As a result members will probably go slow in making any changes with respect to the commissaries.

Pentagon sources supporting a pay raise for the military expect the proposal to be introduced in Congress some time in June or July. The future of this measure will depend in no small measure on what Congress does about the civilian pay raise.

Department of Defense has brief associations on the policy of making an annual review of military compensation. In the long run this is expected to assure consistent pay scales for active duty personnel.

The General Accounting Office has come up with a new report in which it charges that the Army has been paying a private firm $237,000 a year to maintain its aircraft at Ft. Campbell while trained mechanics are assigned to such tasks as "kitchen police" duty. The Department of Defense is understood to be checking on the overall situation and will submit a report on its findings about June 15.

The Naval Enlisted Reserve Association will hold its semiannual conference June 27 in Philadelphia. The association reports that it believes HR 6000 to let enlisted Reservists count their nonactive duty time for retirement pay on a par with Reserve officers may become law this session of Congress.

Some congressional leaders are expressing considerable interest in converting Navy Yard facilities to government-manufactured industrial items such as water-driven turbines for U.S. owner hydro-electric plants. This may be the eventual solution to the retention of many years due for closure in the foreseeable future.

Maj. Gen. deLesseps Morrison, killed in plane crash in Mexico, was a former national president of the Reserve Officers Association.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Although enrollment in most accredited engineering schools has been steadily declining, Columbia University's School of Engineering and Applied Science is chalking up gains. The school, which celebrates its 100th anniversary this year, reports a jump of almost 12 per cent in enrollment in the past five years.

Bach and Dance Music Played At White House

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House put forth an evening of Bach and dancing in honor of Israeli Prime Minister Levi Eshkol. President Johnson, in a champagne toast, promised efforts to solve Israel's water shortage.

It was one of the biggest state dinners in recent years — with 177 guests — and Johnson was back in dancing form.

Among those he twirled on the marble-tiled north entrance foyer was a former president's daughter, Margaret Truman Daniel.

The President, who had taken a respite from dancing at the state dinner last week for Ireland's president, stayed on the dance flood Monday night for an hour and a half.

He started by twirling Mrs. Eshkol to a medley of show tunes. Though the Eshkols left at 11:40 p.m., Johnson danced on until 12:25 p.m. Mrs. Johnson had already left.

The President escorted his daughter, Lynda, 20, out with him. Then he smilingly brought her back to continue dancing, explaining he had to leave because of an early breakfast with Democratic legislative leaders today.

Lynda had a new beehive hairdo. Among her dancing partners was Marine Lt. David Lefeve of Albany, N.Y., the White House aide she has been dating in recent weeks.

In his toast to Eshkol at the state dinner, Johnson praised the achievements of the people of Israel and promised to help in "a joint attack on Israel's water shortage through the highly promising technique of desalting."

"Indeed," he added, "let us hope that this technique will bring benefit to all peoples of the parched Middle East."

Johnson promised also to "hope and work for solution to the problems that divide Israel and its neighbors."

Bach selections were played by famed violinist Mischa Elman at the after-dinner musicale in the East Ballroom. The Ward Swingle singers, organized in Paris, performed their special brand of vocal and rhythmic Bach.

AUTO AIR CONDITIONING

NEW YORK (UPI) — Looks like a cool summer's coming up. If you're riding around on wheels, that is. More and more auto buyers are ordering air conditioners, according to Universal C.I.T. Credit Corporation.

More than 18 per cent of new cars sold so far this year have been equipped with them. For all 1963 the figure was 14.1 per cent. Last year 1,032,000 air conditioners were installed on new cars, compared with 751,000 a year earlier, and 438,000 the year before that.

TURKEY TRAVEL

DENVER (UPI) — The Colorado Game, Fish and Parks Department announced a new mileage record this year — for a turkey, that is. The department said a wild gobler which was tagged in 1962 in Nucla, Colo., was found on the east side of the Uncompahgre Plateau — 30 miles from where it originally had been tagged.

lot as the plane winged eastward but Goldwater was asleep and the returns were not relayed to him.

At Dulles International Airport, outside Washington, Goldwater was welcomed by the cheers of about 0 early-rising supporters.

He told reporters: "I made a statement last night. I haven't seen a vote since I left California."

"Oh sure," Goldwater said, when a reporter asked whether he can win the nomination without California.

As he boarded a waiting limousine, a reporter called, "When will you make a statement?"

"About a week from today," Goldwater called back.

Opening lead: Queen of ◇ South did not have quite enough to make a constructive response to his partner's one no trump bid, so he bid two hearts which is technically a sign off. North was near the maximum with seventeen high card points and a semi-solid five card suit, and he was disinclined to quit without making one more try. With only three small hearts, he should perhaps have tried two notrump in preference to raising partner. A three notrump contract would have been much easier.

South was glad to have another opportunity and, when his partner bid three hearts, he carried on to four.

West opened the queen of diamonds and the ace was played from dummy. The outlook for declarer was exceedingly dim since the lead had exposed him to the imminent loss of a diamond and a club which, together with two sure trump losers, added up to a one trick set. He was momentarily tempted to try sneaking a club through, but he decided that the opponents were certain to cash out on him.

The only legitimate prospect hinged on finding a favorable distribution in both the spade and heart suits. He therefore commenced his operations by leading three rounds of spades. The first hurdle was mounted when everyone followed suit. The thirteenth spade was led on which West discarded a club, and dummy his remaining diamond.

East ruffed with the jack of hearts and returned the queen. South played the ace, and now it was necessary for him to proceed with caution. If, for example, he ruffs a diamond immediately, he will be unable to return to his hand to trump out the last diamond. West will be in with the ace of clubs and, after drawing North's last trump with the king of hearts, West can cash a diamond to set the contract.

Declarer was careful to lead a small club, after winning the ace of hearts. West played the ace, and cashed the king of trumps on which South was careful to drop the eight from his hand, so that North could win the heart continuation with the seven. Declarer's losing diamonds were discarded on dummy's clubs.

Officers said matches had been found at the scene after the fire was extinguished. Victim of the fire was Janie Locus of the Cedar Street address.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Stay as Sweet as You Are

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 and I want to ask you a serious question. Do ANY boys like nice, sweet, old-fashioned girls? If you don't give them what they want, they think you don't like them and they go find someone who will. This guy I went with was real nice at first, then he started getting "fresh." He said if I liked him I'd go along with his ideas. I really liked him, but I couldn't explain why I wouldn't give in without sounding stupid or juvenile. He said I was too "nice" for him, and he left. Now I realize how much I liked him. How can I get him back? —DEE

DEAR DEE: Plenty of boys still like "nice, sweet, old-fashioned" girls. (That's the kind they look for when they have marriage in mind.) If you have to defend your moral standards with a debate, you are in the wrong company. Forget this boy. But don't be surprised if he turns up after he's grown up, and tells you that you were right, and he'd like to have another chance — this time with YOUR rules.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been dead for 22 years. I have continued to call myself MRS. JOHN SMITH. A friend of mine recently pointed out to me that I was breaching etiquette; that since there is no longer a JOHN SMITH, neither is there a MRS. JOHN SMITH, and I should be calling myself MRS. GERALDINE SMITH. Please set me straight. —MRS. GERALDINE OR MRS. JOHN?

DEAR MRS. JOHN SMITH: Your friend is the one who needs to be "set straight." When you took John's name, you took it for as long as YOU lived (unless you took another husband), not for as long as HE lived.

DEAR ABBY: Since reading in your column that a woman changed dentists because she didn't like the canned music he used in his office, I should like to express myself on that subject. I quit TWO dentists on this account. But worse yet is being forced to listen to canned music in a garage. I sat there waiting for my car to be repaired, while the mechanic waved wrenches and screw drivers around in the air as he sang and skipped and danced all around the car as though he were in a hypnotic state. He stood on his toes, leaped into the air and twisted his body. His boss said he was a good mechanic and, if the music were turned off, every mechanic in the place would walk out. At six dollars an hour I didn't bring my car in there to be entertained. When I want to see a ballet, I'll buy a ticket. There should be a law against such nonsense in a place of business. —RENOLDA

White Trial Starts in District Court

Testimony in the trial of James LeRoy White charged with burglary and grand larceny started in District Court late Tuesday afternoon after most of the day was spent selecting a jury.

White, 19, Ft. Carson, is accused of breaking into Zale's Jewelry Co. Inc., 28 N. Tejon St. and stealing rings worth a total of $616.15 March 21.

Police Officer Don Bjornsrud took the witness stand and told the court he saw two men running along Kiowa Street the night of March 21 throwing various articles out of their hands.

He stopped the car and he and another patrolman chased them. One man fell and Bjornsrud grabbed him. Later he was identified as White. The other man disappeared into the darkness and was chased by the other officer. The witness continued saying that a car which had been sitting in the shadows suddenly started up, but by the time Bjornsrud had placed his prisoner in the back of his vehicle the car had disappeared.

The officer then went to the spot where he had seen the two men throw away what were described as "small objects" and found 16 rings bearing Zale's tag. From here he went to the jewelry store and found the front window smashed in.

District Judge David E. W. Enoch is on the bench and the district Attorney's office is represented by Jack Roeser. Sandy Kraemer is cousel for the accused.

Capt. Osterfoss Dies In San Antonio, Tex.

Funeral services with full military honors will be held at 2 p.m. Friday in Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church for Capt. Donald Charles Osterfoss who died Monday in San Antonio, Texas. The Air Force dentist was 26.

Officiating clergymen will be the Rev. Robert C. Jacobson and Col. Palmer P. Pierce, Air Force chaplain. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery. Friends may call from 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday at the Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church.

Capt. Osterfoss was born July 15, 1937, in Loveland. He was graduated from Cheyenne High School, Colorado College, and the Kansas City School of Dentistry. He was a member of Xi Psi Phi dental fraternity.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Osterfoss of 22 Upland Road. Besides his parents, he is survived by a brother, James Osterfoss and a sister, Miss Patricia Elizabeth Osterfoss, both of Colorado Springs.

tleton jail in Arapahoe county, and went on a crime spree. They kidnaped Howard Marsh, 25, a Colorado State Patrolman, robbed him of $200, his watch and service revolver. Then they forced him to flag down a passing car, which they commandeered, but before driving off, tying the patrolman to a fence post, doing the same with two college students who were in the second car: Larry MacBean and Jim Grant, both 20, of the University of Arizona. Marsh managed to free himself and the students after the gunmen drove off.

During the hunt for the suspects, Sheriff Earl Sullivan of El Paso County, Undersheriff Doyle McCammon, Deputy Sheriffs Bob Walters and Bob Stone, in two cars, as well as State Patrol cars manned roadblocks after receiving the alert from Littleton, in the Calhan and Peyton areas.

palace protocol. It was overhauled.

The queen was opposed to Prince Charles going to Gordonstoun, the tough Scottish public school. Charles went to Gordonstoun.

Then there was the time the queen appeared before a royal party wearing a dress of her own choosing. In the hearing of several persons, Philip took a look at the frock, frowned and said rather sharply: "You're not going to wear THAT, are you?"

"No dear," answered the queen, and went and changed the dress.

Superior Military Power Cited by Gen. LeMay

fails to consider how Soviet possession of nuclear advantages would have affected our nation and the Free World.

LeMay warned that the U.S. can maintain its margin in the power struggl only by maintaining technical superiority. He charged the newly commissioned officers to meet the challenge of retaining this "key to strategic advantage."

"Research and development is the most dynamic area affecting our security," LeMay said. "We cannot prescribe the timetable or the limits for technical advances. Nor can we foresee how other countries will apply those advances to new weapons, new strategy and new tactics."

He pointed out that in the past it was not the basic development of atomic energy or jet propulsion that produced technical surprise in conflicts, but it was their unexpected application.

"Everything we know about the military application of science tells us that weapons of the future will be potentially more decisive in their impact on human affairs," LeMay continued. "It also tells us that we cannot depend on a static, finite defense arrangement that is based on any so-called ultimate weapon."

LeMay warned that the new officers "must be prepared to deal with the possibility of exotic weapons" and advised them to apply vigilance and ingenuity in detecting breakthroughs that can affect our security.

He said that our present force of missiles will build toward an objective of more than 1,200 by 1970. He said that the 6,000 first line aircraft now used by the U.S. will be continued with new improved models coming into the inventory.

Because of the total destruction effect of nuclear weapons, LeMay said the old concept of total defeat of the enemy is the least desirable choice facing any nation today.

"For the future," he said, "we need to improve our methods of using weapons to gain precise, but limited, objectives for particular crisis situations."

He said this would increase our ability to neutralize selected enemy targets. Careful application of this ability could force the enemy to "back down from his initial aggression and negotiate our respective interest," he said.

LeMay said we need to further develop the concepts for rapid deployment of forces and need to increase still further the effectiveness of our operations against guerrilla forces.

Flexibility is essential at all levels of deterrence or conflict, LeMay said and stressed the importance of a counterforce concept of deterrence. He explained this as the ability to destroy selective elements of the aggressor's strategic offensive systems, thereby reducing his capability to attack the U.S.

"If deterrence should fail," he said, "counterforce provides for maximum limitation of damage under the worst possible conditions.

Rocky Winner In New York Primary Vote

The governor won all of them.

No official total of the over-all turnout was available but voting was heavy in districts which had contests.

A record round of 86 primary contests for nominations for Congress and the legislature were decided. Most incumbents won renomination, but Rep. Charles A. Buckley, boss of the Bronx, lost to Jonathan B. Bingham in an upset.

Rockefeller did not contest for five delegates in the Buffalo area, where he has been embroiled in a long dispute with the Republican organization.

There, Republicans elected the four uncommitted delegates and one pledged to Goldwater from a roster that included five candidates pledged to no one, two pledged to Goldwater and two to Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

State Republican leaders hope to win over the four uncommitted members before the roll call at the national convention in mid-July.

Palmer Student Commencement To Be Thursday

The Palmer band directed by Walter Smith will present a concert starting at 7:30 p.m.

Two members of the graduating class will deliver the commencement addresses. Miss Jean Hail and Raymond Cool were selected by their fellow seniors to speak for the class.

About 60 of the seniors will receive scholarships and awards during the ceremonies. Warren Strait, senior counselor, will present awards to outstanding scholars.

J. L. Watson, principal, will present the class for graduation with the acceptance by Thomas B. Doherty, superintendent of District 11 schools.

Wilbur S. Marshall, president of the Board of Education, will confer graduation certificates upon about 500 seniors. This year's commencement is the eighty-sixth in the school's history.

The invocation and benediction will be said by Rev. K. O. Backstrand.

Whiteford Funeral Set for Thursday

Mrs. Edith Whiteford, 717 S. Tejon St., died Tuesday at a local hospital following a short illness. She was 82.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday in Swan Funeral Home with the Rev. Dr. Howard E. Hansen officiating. Mrs. Whiteford will be buried in Evergreen Cemetery.

Mrs. Whiteford was born Aug. 8, 1881, in Brooklyn, N. Y., and moved here in 1913 from Brooklyn.

Four Hurt In Two Car Accident

Four persons were injured Monday afternoon in a two-car accident at the intersection of Costilla Street and Wahsatch Avenue, police reported.

The driver of one of the cars, Ann Maureen Wiles, 21, of 215 S. Wahsatch Ave., suffered a bump on the head. A passenger in the car, Earl I. Shock, 79, of 206 S. Wahsatch Ave., suffered multiple cuts. Another passenger, Beverly N. Ganley, 20, of the same address, was taken to the Ft. Carson Hospital for a checkup. Shock and Miss Wiles were treated at Memorial Hospital.

Also treated at Memorial was the driver of the second car, James Vernon Juth, 24, of 321 S. 8th St. Juth suffered bruises.

Police said the Wiles car was southbound on Wahsatch and the Juth car eastbound on Costilla at the time of the collision. Miss Wiles was ticketed for taking the right of way.

Typhoid Epidemic Marks Aberdeen as 'Parish City' the infection may have come from 13-year-old tins of beef released from government Food Ministry stocks recently because of a rise in fresh beef prices.

Noble said there was no ground for suggesting government stocks were to blame.

One theory is that the epidemic began in an Aberdeen market where six-pound tins of beef were sold by the slice and the contaminated slicer used for other meats.

MacQueen warned tourists to stay away from Aberdeen until the epidemic is over. Aberdeen residents find it difficult to go elsewhere.

People who booked into the Billy Butlin holiday camps for summer vacations have received telegrams canceling their reservations. Aberdonians trying to find accommodations in English resorts are told "sorry-full up."

An Aberdeen salesman who went to Dundee to call on a customer was ordered out of the first store he entered. He telephoned other customers and was told by all to stay away.

An Aberdeen family who wrote to relatives in Glasgow were told: "Please don't send any more letters until the typhoid has gone. You can phone if you like."

Schools for the city's 32,000 children are closed indefinitely. So are swimming pools and dance halls. Social life has come to a virtual halt.

Restaurants and bars are open but aren't doing much business. People are seen carrying their own glasses into bars.

It's the biggest shutdown since the outbreak of World War II. Business people fear that visitors will be afraid to come in future years.

"No matter how we scrub ourselves and our town, we can't erase those headlines," said a gloomy landlord.

Aberdeen's typhoid epidemic is Britain's worst since 1937, when 344 people were afflicted and 43 died at Croydon, outside London. Antibiotics are credited with keeping the death toll down this time.

Asian flu a few years ago caused many more deaths here than this typhoid wave.

A visitor from London remarked that Aberdeen has become so hygienic that "even the money smells of carbolic acid."

City authorities reported only 40 empty beds left in the hospitals. If the epidemic grows some patients will have to be sent to other towns.

At least five persons who have been in the "immedite region" of Aberdeen during the epidemic have returned to Canada, Montreal health authorities said Tuesday night. All are being ke under surveillance.

Romero Rosary Service To Be Held at Swans'

Rosary services will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Swan Funeral Home for John M. Romero who died May 31 in San Francisco, Calif., where he had been living for the past ten years.

A Requiem High Mass will be sung at 9 a.m. Friday in St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church with the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Robert F. Hoffman as celebrant. Mr. Romero will be buried in Evergreen Cemetery.

Mr. Romero was born in Colorado Springs on July 15, 1905.

He is survived by his mother Mrs. Antonita Romero of 619 E. Hugo St.; three sisters, Mrs. Rose Rocha of Chicago, Miss Thelma Romero of Colorado Springs, and Mrs. Julia Wade of Huntsville, Ala.; four brothers, S. C. Romero, Joe Romero and Maxie Romero, all of Colorado Springs, and Manuel Romero of Salt Lake City; two sons, Richard Romero, and Floyde Romero of Security; a daughter Miss Betty Jane Romero who lives in California; 10 grandchildren, and several nieces and nephews.

Mary Bouslog Dies At Stratton Home

Mrs. Mary R. Bouslog, 92, died Tuesday at the Myron Stratton Home where she was a resident.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday in the Law Mortuary with the Rev. Warren Hile officiating. Mrs. Bouslog was a life long member of the Christian Church. She will be buried in Evergreen Cemetery.

Mrs. Bouslog was born Sept. 1, 1871, in Tremont, Tasewell County, Ill. She moved to Stella, Neb., at the age of 13, and later lived in Las Animas and Canon City before coming to Colorado Springs in 1927.

Mrs. Bouslog's first husband, Charles L. King whom she married in 1889, died in 1932. Her second husband, John D. Bouslog whom she married in 1943, died in 1955.

She is survived by a son Otis H. King of 807 E. Moreno St.; a grandson Everett M. King of Pleasonton, Calif.; great grandchildren, Everett M. King Jr. and Francine Sandra King, and a brother Ernest Bright of Stella, Neb., and many nieces and nephews.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

Here's my suggestion to solve the problem of keeping the inside of sneakers clean:

Start all over again with new sneakers large enough to accommodate the foam rubber innersoles (sold in most drug and dime stores). These innersoles can be slipped out and tossed in with a load of clothes in an automatic washer.

Buy two pair of innersoles so you have one pair to wear while the other dries. Trim the toe end with scissors for better fit if necessary. Innersoles are comfortable and most inexpensive. —A Reader

Dear Heloise:

When I made my slipcover for my davenport, I bought extra material and used double thickness on the arm where it gets the most use.

When the arm wore out I just cut the top layer off close to the welting. I had a whole new-looking slip cover in a matter of minutes.

No mending, no patched look. —Mrs. R. Fleming

Dear Heloise:

Did you ever try dropping a couple of BBs into your nail polish bottle.

Then each time you use the polish, a little shake and the polish is easily, quickly, and thoroughly mixed. This is especially good for the frosted types of polishes. —"Home Manicurist"

Letter Of Laughter

Dear Heloise:

Here's an Irish tidbit:

To keep cookies from getting stale, put cookies in bag and keep in a room with children. —Avid Reader

Dear Heloise:

To prevent my child's rocking chair from tipping over backwards I attached small corks to the ends of the runners.—Mrs. Hazel Calvert

Dear Heloise:

When the crown of my straw hat became limp and out of shape, I stuffed paper in the crown and shaped it — then sprayed it with my hair spray. It did the trick.

I have saved several of my hats by using this method. —M. L. Johnson

Better spot test the spray on the inside of the hat first! Some types of spray might not work. —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Perhaps you, or one of your readers, can help me with a problem I have with my electric coffee maker.

Each time I make a pot of coffee there is some kind of metal taste that gets stronger with each pot.

I have scoured and cleaned the inside of the pot and let warm baking soda water soak the inside, but the metal taste always remains. What can I do to get rid of this awful taste? I will appreciate any suggestions I get. —A New Homemaker

Anyone really found a good answer for this? We sure would appreciate knowing. Drop your letters to Heloise care of this paper. Letters do not have to be signed to appear. —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Don't throw away that old dish drainer just because it's rusty!

I painted mine and keep it under my sink for the pot lids. This keeps them in order and they are not scattered all over the place. —Donna Stipetic

Dear Heloise:

This was one of the thrills of my childhood, and I am passing it on to my children:

My grandmother used to take the scraps from her pie crusts, roll them out, fit them into a ramekin, and fill it with what was left in the jelly jar. Then she'd bake it with the pie she had made.

Delicious and a real treat for a child. —Mrs. Broaddus Jones

Paul Bradley Announces for CU Regent

Paul Bradley, 53, a 1933 graduate of the University of Colorado business school, today announced his Republican candidacy for the office of Regent of University of Colorado.

Bradley, a local businessman and partner in the Hill Oil Company, has been a resident of Colorado Springs since 1948.

He is active in Colorado University alumni activity and is past president of the Alumni "C" Club. In 1956 he was awarded the "C Fob Award" for his continuing interest in the university. During student days at UC, he was the winner of three varsity letters in football, basketball and track.

Bradley is a native to Sterling, Colo., where he grew up and attended high school.

From 1940-48, he held a position on the coaching staff of the university, except for naval service during WW II from 1942-45. While in service Bradley was in aviation where he attained the rank of lieutenant commander.

For the past 16 years he has been engaged in teaching and coaching, and has held coaching positions at Del Norte, Aurora, and Sterling.

Bradley and his wife Edna, a graduate of Colorado State University at Greeley; have three children, two who are presently students at University of Colorado.

ly replaced the police and with tear gas shells stopped the mob's advance. They blocked two main approaches to Park's mansion, one mile away.

U.S. Ambassador Samuel D. Berger and Gen. Hamilton H. Howze, the U.S. and U.N. Forces commander in Korea, visited Park at the presidential mansion at his request while the students rioted. The Americans landed in the presidential compound in a helicopter.

The students commandeered at least nine army trucks and three police jeeps in their assault on the police barricades. They drove the vehicles 100 yards up Capitol Avenue but stopped at a new barricade thrown up by the troop reinforcements. The students dismounted and returned the trucks to army authorities.

Scribbled on the abandoned trucks were such slogans as "Park regime go away." "We are hungry. We cannot live on."

It was along Capitol Avenue that bloody clashes between students and police led to the overthrow in 1960 of President Syngman Rhee.

Park convened a meeting of the National Security Council to discuss the mounting political unrest. Presidential press secretary Park Sang-kil said Park was not considering imposing martial law at this time.

Marching toward the National Assembly, the students raided three police stations and two police boxes, breaking window panes and doing slight damage to the buildings.

In early stages of the demonstrations, hundreds of students were hauled off to police stations. Dozens of students and police were injured.

A U.S. army bus driven by a Korean was stoned in downtown Seoul. Witnesses said none of the American passengers was hurt.

Water Problem Probe Scheduled in Lamar

DENVER (AP) — The Colorado Legislative Council study committee on water problems has scheduled public hearings Wednesday in Lamar and Thursday in Pueblo.

Purpose of the hearings is to allow area residents to testify before the 23-member committee headed by Sen. Frank L. (Ted) Gill, R-Hillrose. State water experts will be present to participate in discussions and answer questions.

The meeting at Lamar will be in the Community Building and at Pueblo in the Town House Motel. Both will start at 9 a.m.

Other hearings are expected to be scheduled later this year in Alamosa, Glenwood Springs and northeastern Colorado.

Gill's committee is making a study of all surface and underground water supplies in Colorado for the purpose of recommending legislation to the General Assembly.

Japan, South Korea To Talk About Fish

TOKYO (AP) — A second round of fishery talks between Japan and South Korea, to begin shortly after June 10, was announced today by Agriculture-Forestry Minister Munenori Akagi.

Fishery issues are a major stumbling block in the negotiations to normalize relations between South Korea and Japan, its pre-World War II occupier. South Korean students have opposed the negotiations with violent demonstrations in recent weeks.

About 1,500 students clashed today with club-swinging police in Seoul, demanding President Chung Hee Park's resignation. The campaign against the negotiation with Japan is expanding to become a campaign against the government in general.

BELCHING AND HEARTBURN

Indigestion is an all-inclusive term for symptoms such as belching, regurgitation (water brash), heartburn, nausea, and retching. Some persons also place coated tongue and bad breath in this category, even though the cause of these conditions is most likely to be found in the mouth.

Belching is normal during or soon after a meal. It represents regurgitation of swallowed air which forms a bubble in the top of the stomach. Explosive belching stems from the accumulation of excessive amounts of air and occurs more frequently in nervous individuals who gulp air (aerophagia) routinely. Swallowing cigaret smoke is another cause of belching. Many persons with this complaint become bloated or distended after eating because they take in air when attempting to burp or relieve indigestion.

Heartburn is associated with a reflux of the stomach contents into the lower esophagus (gullet). It is not a sign of too much acid. On the contrary, the symptom has been reported in persons who are deficient in stomach acid. The symptom may result from irritation caused by swallowing hot liquids, strong liquor, orange juice, or concentrated sugars.

Eating too fast and drinking excessive amounts of water distend the stomach and encourage the backflow. Water brash and regurgitation of fluid are somewhat similar except the taste may be sour, intensely bitter, or contain the flavor of recently ingested foods.

Indigestion is common among the tense, nervous, emotional, and overworked. Distress is not imaginary and usually comes from spasms, dysfunction of the gastrointestinal tract, or faulty eating habits. The "butterflies in the stomach" sensation many executives encounter during irksome periods is a variation of the same sensation. The best remedies are to calm down, eat and drink sensibly, and roll with the punches.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

Don't Force Food

Mrs. G. writes: My husband and I are fat, but out 6-year-old daughter won't eat well, saying she wants to remain slim and trim. Do you think she should be forced to eat more?

Reply

No. She appears to have more sense than her parents. This story demonstrates how difficult it is for the children of obese individuals to avoid the same condition.

Effect of Stimulant

L. M. A. writes: Is amphetamine, taken over a long period, harmful to the liver, kidneys, heart, or brain?

Reply

Small amounts do no harm but larger does might damage the heart and brain. Nervousness, palpitation, loss of appetite, and irritability are the usual side effects.

Not Yet Available

E. G. writes: Have aritificial fallopian tubes been transplanted successfully?

Reply

The procedure has been tried but did not prove successful because nature's architecture could not be duplicated.

Ringworm

A. T. writes: What is trichophyton rubrum?

Reply

An inflammatory type of ringworm of hands, feet, or nails. The usual ringworm treatments are recommended.

Alcohol and Epilepsy

M. M. writes: Is epilepsy due to drinking?

Reply

No, but alcohol may aggravate the disease.

Dirksen Hopes Civil Rights In Middle June

By JO EHALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said today he expects the Senate to pass the civil rights bill by June 18 — if next week's effort to cut off debate is successful.

Dirksen said he "would rather guess" supporters of the House-passed legislation would be able to muster the necessary two-thirds vote to impose cloture and cut off the rights debate. If all 100 senators vote, the votes of 67 senators will be needed.

Dirksen and Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield agreed Monday to file a cloture petition—which requires 16 names — on Saturday. This would mean a vote next Tuesday, June 9.

Dirksen said he was confident the GOP forces would produce more than two-thirds of their number for cloture. There are 33 Republican senators. Dirksen has been trying to line up 25 for cutting off the debate and has said even this figure might be exceeded.

If 25 Republicans support cloture, 42 Democratic votes would be needed — assuming all 100 senators vote. An Associated Press survey at the start of the week listed 58 senators committed to support cloture, 26 opposed and 16 undecided or refusing to commit themselves.

Mansfield declined to predict success of the cloture attempt. "I'm figuring to do my best," he said.

The Senate has imposed cloture only five times in history and never on a civil rights measure.

Assistant Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey, the bill's floor manager, said, "I think we have the votes for cloture. It's going to be awfully close."

The leadership is counting on revisions in the bill, introduced last week by Mansfield and Dirksen, to pick up the necessary votes for cloture.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, said, however, that he was still unhappy with several sections of the bill. Hickenlooper, who heads the Senate Republican policy committee, said he remained uncommitted on cloture but that a number of senators were getting restive and would be ready to cut off the marathon debate soon.

Mansfield called in the Senate at 9 a.m. today and said this pattern would likely be followed until the measure is passed. Southerners did most of the talking Monday as the debate went through its 67th day after a three-day Memorial Day weekend.

The chairman of the platform committee for the forthcoming Republican National Convention Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, said the platform would back the civil rights law as passed by Congress.

But Laird said the platform would not endorse such "inverse discrimination" as bussing school pupils out of their neighborhoods to alter racial balances and mandatory quotas of jobs to be filled only by Negroes.

Blood Taken Before Cuban Prisoners Die

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Condemned Cuban prisoners are forced to contribute to a blood bank before they are shot, exiles claimed today.

Anti-Castro leaders protested to international organizations that Ruben Acosta and Justo Garcia, both 16, were forced to donate blood, then executed.

The protest to the Organization of American States and the International Jurists Commission in Geneva was filed by the Cuban Human Rights Commission.

Refugees arriving via the small boat escape route reported emergency military measures continued in Cua. They were imposed in mid-May amid reports of threatened exile incursions.

COUNCIL ASKS SUPPORT

NEW YORK (UPI) — An appeal for worldwide support by its member churches of the Mississippi Delta project, authorized by the National Council of Churches, has been issued by the World Council.

Meeting in Geneva, the WCC Executive Committee recently voted to seek $160,000 as a first contribution to supplement funds and personnel being sought by the U.S. churches. The Delta project aims to provide direct relief for the needy, literacy training, community development and reconciliation between racial groups in the area.

'Mods' to Set New Style for British Youth

By WALTER LOGAN
United Press International

LONDON (UPI) — The Rockers, if you haven't been keeping up with British youth, are the bad guys, the belligerent beatniks who wear black leather jackets and blue jeans and ride motorcycles to some previously selected spot where they beat up on the Mods, or the good guys.

You cannot be a real Rocker until you have "done a ton," which means you have driven your motorcyle in excess of 100 miles per hour on some crowded superhighway.

There are Mods like the Beatles and there are extreme Mods who are even more so and often ride motorscooters to their engagements with the Rockers. The Rockers, who get their name from rock 'n' roll, are so badly dressed we can get on to the Mods.

The Mods take their name from the word "modern" and favor such pop singers as the Beatles or Eden Kane. They usually wear clothes designed by John Stephen, a 27 - year - old Glaswegian (he's from Glasgow) who is so successful he rides around London in a Rolls-Royce instead of on a motorscooter.

Stephen pioneered collarless jackets which were popularized by pop singer Mark Wynter and the Beatles but has now gone on to Mersey jackets which are made of thick French corduroy with a rounded collar and are sleeveless.

The jacket fastens with four loops of black leather over big brass buttons and is worn over a long-sleeved polo neck sweater or one of Stephen's checked shirts with rounded collars. There are matching jerkins and slax. Girl Mods wear them too.

Other new additions to Stephen's range are navy blue shirts with white polka dots, denim waistcoats called chest-huggers—or waistcoats made of gold leather or snakeskin if you are more affluent. The denim is about $12, the snakeskin $35.

But the styles change so rapidly that Stephen is kept working overtime designing something new. His wares are sold at a chain of Boutiques in London with big signs "His Clothes" in front of the shop. If some other store copies him he quickly designs something that will outdate his rivals.

For the extreme Mods he opened a new shop in Carnaby Street called "The Mod Male" —olny a few hundred feet from four or five other of his "His Clothes" shops.

The emphasis is on leisure wear in the Stephen shops and they were wearing mildly conservative sports jackets resembling hacking jackets, slightly longer with slanted pockets.

Their pants with such hip-huging, low rise affairs they made cowboy-type Levi's look high-waisted and they were cut considerably lower than the ones Brigitte Bardot made famous at St. Tropez. Pockets were flush with the waistline and did not show. The pants were very narrow and cuffless.

Shirts in the shop had 2¼-inch collars which is very high, and most had tab collars. But there were standup button down collars the same height and some shirts with very long points, up to six inches, some button down. Many were dark, including some with bodies of dark tartan and cuffs and collars of solid color.

The shoe worn uniformly was a Chelsea Boot which is like a high-rising gaiter with pointed toes or newer, the British version of Hush Puppies. Hats were almost brimless and there were rumors that some Mods were wearing rimless bowlers or derbies.

Stephen owes much of his success to television for many of his customers are television stars.

Some of the clothes are pretty wild and some are midly conservative to the point that the Duke of Bedford and Lord Londonderry are among Stephen's customers.

WEIGHT-WATCHING COWS

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP) — Pregnant cows should be watched so that they do not over-eat and gain too much weight, according to an extension dairy specialist at Rutgers College of Agriculture.

The specialist said that extra flesh is not only expensive from the standpoint of extra feeding, but that it can lead to calving difficulties and to ketoisi, which is akin to diabetes. Also, each pound of fat stored in a cow's body could support the production of almost nine pounds, or pints, of milk.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Tesker were delegates to the State Lions Convention held in Durango the weekend of May 23. Before returning home they took a vacation trip to Trout Lake, Rico, Telluride and Ophir, Colorado. The smallest Post Office in the United States is located in Ophir, with seven boxes. The mayor elected in 1948 still holds office in the old mining town, which boasts fire hydrants among other modern conveniences. The Teskers arrived home in time to attend the May 29 meeting of the Color Slide Club. The last meeting of the season will be June 26, held at Whispering Pines Lodge in Chipita Park. A covered dish dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. Members, interested persons and visitors are cordially invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Esgar have returned to their "Lincoln Logs" residence on Pikes Peak Highway, after enjoying a winter residenec in Phoenix, Arizona.

Miss Roxanne Hunt has been elected vice president of the Pepperette's Club of Manitou Springs High School for next year, and will also serve as a member of the Student Council. Linda Kohl was chosen student council representative for the Pepperette Club, and Susie Peters one of the yell leaders. Norman Armentrout was elected treasurer of the Pep Club.

May 28 the Senior Annual Signing Dinner was held at the Red Carpet Lounge. Serving on the "Will" committee were Lance Huffman, Kay Shields, Lynn Tanner, Bill Schorer from Ute Pass. The "Prophecy" committee included Charles Anderson, who is one of the twelve honor students graduating this year. Young Anderson was awarded a Joint Honor Scholarship and plans to study his premedical course at the University of Colorado. Other honor students from Ute Pass include Jeanine Lanning, ranking seventh in her class, who was awarded the Colorado State College Scholarship and plans to study Business Education at CSC. Rocky Arnott, ranking sixth in the senior class; Jo Anne Gayler, who was second and was awarded her scholarship by the Bank of Manitou, plans to attend Colorado State University to study Modern Language. Sandra Isele was awarded a scholarship by the Foot Printers Law Enforcement Association and plans to attend Trinidad State. Miss Joanne Gayler will be salutatorian at the Commencement Exercises June 3. Lance Huffman, Student Council president, extended the welcome and Steve Kohl of Cascade class president gave an address titled, "Business and Commerce through Understanding."

Fourteen members of Snowflake Chapter No. 153 attended the meeting May 27, of Ruxton Chapter No. 10, honoring Mrs. Helen Hoskins, district instructor and past matron of Ruxton Chapter. Chapters in District 15 presented gifts of money to the honor guests after performing an entertainment on the program. Glen Eyrie Chapter No. 8, brought a quartet from their choir members, including Wilma Newcomer, John Finch, John Hoff and Cliff Kinnell, who sang a hymn. Mr. Kinnell also sang a solo, "Somewhere a Voice is Calling." A women's trio from Centennial Chapter No. 58, included Vera Slocum, Alice Plym and Evelyn Kitterman, who dang, "Do-Re-Mi-,Hi-Ho-Fiddle-DDee." a duet from Victoria Chapter No. 28 sang a parody of words to "The Yellow Rose of Texas" melody. Mrs. Fannie Lincoln, a member of Snowflake Chapter No. 153, gave a reading titled "Monkey Business." The very entertaining program closed with an organ and piano duet by Maude Aurand and Pat Heltemes, playing a medley of favorite songs and the "Seven Trombones." Members of Snowflake Chapter at the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Elwell, Mr. and Mrs. Farley Reasonover, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Seve, Mrs. Ruby Carroll, Mrs. Pearl Tillman, Mrs. Nina Wiggins, Mrs. Ruth Elwell, Mrs. Fannie Lincoln, Mrs. Carolny McAdams, Mrs. Doris Dillon.

More Power Provided for Brushing Teeth

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress gets odd bits of information at its committee hearings.

For instance, Douglas G. Wright, administrator of the Southwest Power Administration, has false teeth and he uses an electric toothbrush.

In congressional testimony made public today, he expounded on the insatiable appetite of Americans for electric power and said:

"I now brush my teeth electrically. I am too lazy to brush my teeth with my own muscular power—and they are false, at that."

Richard Boone Goes to Hawaii; Will Stay There

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's goodbye Hollywood, for Richard Boone.

The moving vans have pulled up before his westside home, his cars have been shipped, and next Monday he shifts to his new residence on the island of Oahu, Hawaii.

After 14 years as a Hollywood actor, including service in three television series, Boone is moving his wife and 10-year-old son to the islands. That doesn't mean he's relegating himself to a life of ease among the palms and pineapples.

"I am not capable of retiring," he explained. "I'm merely shifting my base of operations to a place that is only 4½ hours away from Hollywood by jet. I expect to be here often, if producers call me, and I hope they do."

He also hopes to be working in the islands. He has an ambitious plan in mind.

"I think I've learned the production side of our business pretty well—I'd be pretty stupid if I hadn't," he said. "I want to establish a film studio in Hawaii with the purpose of producing features and television series and providing a base for other movie companies that come to Hawaii for locations.

"The idea would be to build two sound stages—one for shooting and one where sets would be prepared—plus an office complex. It would have to be on Oahu because of transportation. Also, the film lab is there, and the four television stations can provide tape and other facilities.

"The studio would be a boon for film locations. It would give companies cover sets to use in case of bad weather; within two hours they could be shooting indoors. Time lost by weather can be murder on a budget."

Boone has rented a house near Honolulu for 15 months, then will decide where he wants his permanent home in the islands. There can be no doubt as to his pulling up stakes. He has shipped his fishing boat to Hawaii, and his son Peter is registered at the famed Punahou School.

The rough-hewn actor admitted that his son was a factor in his decision to leave Hollywood.

"I think it will be a good thing for the boy," he explained. "In this town kids are subjected to the wrong kinds of pressures."

Boone said that his friends in the islands are from all walks of life. But are there any actors in Hawaii?

"I hope not," he replied with a burst of Paladin-like laughter.

The largest single tax-paying group in the country is composed of persons earning between $5,000 and $6,000 annually.

Michigan Doctor Will Head Hospital Surgery

Dr. Albert H. Fuller will arrive today from his home in Muskegon, Mich., to head the department of surgery at the Mamie Doud Eisenhower Osteopathic Hospital .

A graduate of the Kirksville College of Osteopathy and Surgery, Dr. Fuller for 20 years has been in general surgical and orthopedic practice in Muskegon and has long been consultant at several osteopathic hospitals in his area, including the 200 bed osteopathic hospital in Grand Rapids. Dr. and Mrs. Fuller have a daughter, Johnna, a junior at the University of Colorado, and a son Charles, a high school sophomore. Mrs. Fuller and the children will arrive at the end of the present school year.

Dr. Fuller is a member of the American College of Osteoapthic Surgeons, having been certified several years ago, and has held office in this specialty group. He is also a member of the American Osteopathic Association, the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons, and now in addition becomes a member of the Colorado Osteopathic Association and the local El Paso County group.

A native of Wyoming, Dr. Fuller has visited frequently in Colorado Springs, and on a recent visit said, "It's going to be good to come back West again. You know, we Westerners just never feel quite satisfied anywhere else, and there persists that longing to get 'back home.' We loved our work and our friends and our home in Michigan, but we have long looked forward to making our home in Colorado Springs.

"Your osteopathic hospital here is a beautiful example of the modern smaller hospital. Your equipment is of the finest. You have left nothing undone toward making it a complete and modern general hospital of which our profession and the city of Colorado Springs may be very proud."

Dr. Fuller remarked that "having assumed this tremendous task without asking for government help is most commendable. You of the profession and your friends of osteopathy are deserving of much credit."

Dr. Fuller's addition to the staff of the local hospital has been known for several months according to Dr. Ora D. Fry, present chief-of-staff. "We have known Dr. Fuller for many years," Dr. Fry said. "He is a man to whom we can in greatest confidence refer patients for consultation and surgery. His wide experience and his outstanding service to his professional organizations makes him a very valuable addition to our hospital, and we are happy to welcome him and his fine family to make their future home in Colorado Springs."

Dr. Clois H. Guthrie of Denver, president of the American College of Osteopathic Surgeons said recently of Dr. Fuller "I have known and worked with him in our specialty group for many years. He is held in great respect and esteem by his colleagues. You are indeed fortunate to have him head your department of surgery."

Dr. Fuller will have his office in a new clinic building now nearing completion at 1908 E. Pikes Peak Ave., in close proximity to the new hospital.

PRESIDENTIAL PHONE

CHICAGO (UPI) — It was not until 1929 that the president of the United States had a phone on his White House desk. Prior to the time of President Herbert Hoover, the chief executive used a booth outside his executive office, according to the Illinois Bell Telephone Co.

Catholic Church Pays Homage To Pope John

By GERALD I. MILLER

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Roman Catholic Church paid homage to Pope John XXIII today on the first anniversary of his death.

At churches throughout the world his memory was recalled. Here at the headquarters of Roman Catholicism a memorial Mass was scheduled in St. Peter's Basilica.

Giovanni Cardinal Urbani, patriarch of Venice, was chosen to celebrate the Mass in the presence of John's successor, Pope Paul VI.

Another memorial service was scheduled at Sotto il Monte, Pope John's native village where his brothers still work their farms.

Pilgrims by the thousands thronged to the pope's birthplace in the north Italian mountains. A petition with 50,000 signatures, asking the start of a beatification cause for Pope John, was brought to Bishop Clemente Gaddi of the Bergamo diocese, which includes Sotto il Monte.

Beatification is the first step toward possible sainthood.

He had reigned less than five years, but the work he began—the renewal and transition of Roman Catholicism—lives on.

Few popes in the church's nearly 2,000 years made so profound an impression.

He summoned the Ecumenical Council to let the fresh air of modern times into the church. He hoped renewal of the Church would help the growing movement toward Christian unity.

Through word and deed he showed himself an unconventional pope. He ventured freely from the Vatican. He received a top Communist in private audience, Soviet Premier Khrushchev's nephew Alexei Adzhubei. He said in his encyclical "Peace on Earth" that in certain situations Catholics and Communists could work together for the common good of man.

This brought him criticism, particularly in Italy after the Communist party made strong gains in a general election. But Pope John once said the pope had to be a father to all.

OCTOPUS CATCHER

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The title "octopus-catcher cum laude" could be added to John Couch's recently-earned Master of Science degree from Florida State University. He needed lots of octopuses for his research project on parasites living in octopus kidneys. So he caught them.

He began catching them in the summer of 1962 for $10 each for a professor of zoology. "The best way to catch an octopus," Couch says, "is to go to the bottom of the sea where he lives, find his den and coax him out."

$29 Million Awarded in Utilities Anti-Trust Case

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Antitrust damages of nearly $29 million were awarded two Philadelphia utilities that successfully sued six of America's largest electrical manufacturers for price-fix and bid-rig overcharges in the sale of power transformers.

The defendant firms, including General Electric Co., and Westinghouse Electric Corp., said they would appeal Tuesday's jury verdict in U.S. District Court. They called it unwarranted.

The jury of seven men and five women had deliberated 10½ hours after listening to 43 days of testimony since the trial's start on March 15.

It awarded almost $9.7 million to Philadelphia Electric Co., and its Maryland subsidiary, Conowingo Power Co.; and to United Gas Improvement Co.

Besides GE and Westinghouse the other defendants are Allis-Chalmers, West Allis, Wis.; Moloney Electric Co., and Wagner Electric Co., both of St. Louis, Mo.; and McGraw-Edison Co., Elgin, Ill.

In Chicago, eight Midwest utilities companies agreed to a $4.7-million settlement on contested purchases from three electrical goods manufacturers that engaged in price fixing.

Agreeing to the settlement in U.S. District Court were GE, Westinghouse and Allis-Chalmers.

The firms involved are Northern Indiana Public Service Co., Wisconsin Electric Power Co., Iowa Power & Light Co., Central Illinois Public Service Co., Central Illinois Light Co., Iowa Electric Light & Power Co., Public Service Co. of Indiana, Inc., and the Iowa-Illinois Gas & Electric Co.

The Philadelphia suits grew out of criminal antitrust convictions of 29 electrical manufacturers and 46 of their executives by federal government in 1961. Fines of more than $2 million were imposed and six men served short jail terms.

Experts of Asian Crisis Ignore News Reporters

By ROBERT MYERS

HONOLULU (AP) — American policy makers, in the final hours of their secret strategy talks, were occupied today with the question what more the United States must do to prop up Southeast Asia against intensified Communist pressure.

The two-day meeting already was setting off political reverberations in election-conscious Washington. But the assembled diplomatic and military authorities at Pacific Command headquarters appeared to ignore—at least officially—everything but the subjects at hand.

Efforts to solve the Southeast Asia crisis began Monday with a more than nine-hour session that convened in a heavily guarded room, moved to a private beach for a working lunch and closed back behind locked doors.

That same schedule was in force today with most of the officials, including Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who presided, and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who planned to fly home to Washington after final adjournament about dusk.

None of the conferees would disclose what directions their meetings were taking. It appeared likely that details of any recommendations will be revealed only after approval by President Johnson.

Political reaction to the talks came from Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee. He said in a Congressional Record statement that the conference won't be productive unless the administration gives up what he termed false premises that belong in the past.

Laird said executive policy in Southeast Asia is unrealistic in its approach to Communist-inspired problems.

Rusk, asked about Laird's charge, declined comment. The assembled Cabinet officers, ambassadors and military leaders have been instructed by the President to review American policy in Southeast Asia and make suggestions for its future course.

There were growing indications that military moves were being charted to show pro-Communist insurgents the United States means business. Limited military pressures have been applied in the past—notably in Thailand in 1962—with temporary success.

Increased U.S. military activity in Southeast Asia could take a number of courses including jet reconnaisance flights over Communist North Viet Nam or a carrier task force cruising just outside North Vietnamese territorial waters—close enough to be seen from shore.

Other alternatives might be guerrilla activity by South Vietnamese forces inside North Viet Nam or even a naval quarantine. The United States already has imposed economic sanctions on North Viet Nam to halt the sale of that nation's goods in America.

Yet another possibility was a repeat of the 1962 muscle-flexing when U.S. Army, Navy and Air Force units went into Thailand in a clear waning to the Communists.

Rusk stopped off in Thailand en route to Honolulu to discuss new threats against Thailand by the pro-Red Pathet Lao of Laos. Speculation ran high after the visit that American troops would be sent back to Thailand, which borders strife-torn Laos along a 600-mile frontier.

The deepening crisis in Laos with the Pathet Lao attempting to destroy the coalition government with rightists and neutralists gave new emphasis to the Thai border threat. A breakup of the government would lay open the border to new Communist guerrilla activity.

The Bureau of the Census predicts there will be about 4.5 million more potential women voters in the country this fall than men.

Asian Summit Meeting Scheduled in Tokyo

MANILA (AP) — Indonesia, Malaysia and the Philippines will hold a summit meeting in Tokyo in June, it was announced today.

The foreign minssters of the three nations will meet before their chiefs do, the announcement said.

The announcement said Indonesia had agreed in principle to withdraw her forces from the Malaysian Borneo states of Sabah and Sarawak.

REASSURANCE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ministers of the United Church of Christ were assured in a pastoral letter recently that their representatives in the six-denomination Consultation on Church Union had neither considered nor discussed "any plan that would impair the function or freedom of the local church."

The 2,056,000-member United Church, a union of the Congregational Christian Churches and the Evangelical and Reformed Church, is engaged in unity talks with the International Convention of Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ), Evangelical United Brethren, Protestant Episcopal Church, Methodist Church and the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

Automobile sales for last year totalled 7.7 million. Sales for this year may reach eight million, including some 350,000 imports according to the Federal Reserve Board Index.

Stennis Renominated In Mississippi Vote

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi Democrats renominated Sen. John Stennis and all five congressmen Tuesday.

The veteran lawmakers were opposed in the primary election by political novices, including four Negroes. The voting turnout was light.

Only Reps. William Colmer and Arthur Winstead faced serious challenges and both scored unexpectedly comfortable victories. Others winning renomination were Rep. Tom Abernethy, who was unopposed, and Reps. Jamie Whitten and John Bell Williams.

The first successful oil well in the United States was drilled by Colonel Drake in 1868.

New County Court System To Supersede Old Fee Type

By GLENN URBAN

(This is the second in a two-part series on the forthcoming change in the lower court system of Colorado. —Ed.)

When the new county court system goes into effect next year, the old fee system of justice in Colorado will be gone.

The new county court system scheduled to become effective on Jan. 12, will replace the present county courts and the Justice of Peace courts.

JP courts assess charges in almost every case. The costs are assessed to the guilty person in a case of law violation, so that a traffic violator, for instance, might find himself fined $20 for speeding and assessed a total of $27.50, the extra $7.50 being costs.

The new county courts will not be costs courts, so that a speeding fine will be a speeding fine, not fine and costs.

Local lawyers have figured that the JP courts in the courthouse can collect sufficient money in costs in the first four months to pay the expenses of the courts.

The salary of each justice in the courthouse JP courts is $7,500 a year. Each court also has a constable, whose salary is paid out the costs fees collected by the court.

In the new county courts, the judges' salaries are expected to be $11,500 a year. Two statutes are on the state's books, and neither of them has been challenged. One lists county court judges salaries at $11,500, and the other puts them at $10,500.

That, naturally, is bound to be tested soon after the new courts go in operation. Some place in the state, the county commissioners are bound to want to pay the county judge $10,500 and he will think his salary should be $1,000 higher. Then the state Supreme Court will have to settle the issue.

The tasks handled for the JP courts by the constables will be handled for the new county courts by the sheriff's office, just as is done for the district courts.

Attorney Robert Cole, who received second designation behind Attorney Jack Roeser last Saturday, May 16, at the GOP county assembly and convention as a candidate for one of the two judgeships, analyzed the new court system as he prepared to make his campaign.

He pointed out that much of the initial success of the courts will depend on how the judges operate the courts. "Courts," he said, "must meet the needs of the public. The courts must exercise the social conscience."

Following are 11 points of interest about the new courts according to Cole's analyzation:

1. A more formal attitude will be maintained in the county courts than has been the case in the justice of the peace courts.

2. At the present time, the county court handles probate matters, juvenile matters, mental health hearings, divorce matters, adoption matters, and disputes on boundaries of real estates.

All of those matters will be handled by the district courts after Jan. 12, 1965, and the county courts will then handle claims up to $500 plus interest and costs, misdemeanors, forcible entry and detainer proceedings (to obtain possession of real estate), proceedings for change of name, and proceedings for the issuance of corrected or delayed birth certificates.

3. Any one can represent himself in the new county courts, and corporations are allowed to be represented by law agents in matters of open account, negotiable instruments and forcible entry and detainer.

4. The county court will be a court of record and this record will show what happened at the hearings.

5. There will be no pleadings except a written complaint which will briefly set out the claim and a written answer by a defendant who may wish to contest the claim in the complaint.

The present justice of the peace courts never required setting forth the basis of the claim, only the amount claimed, and no answer needed be filed. This created doubt as to the origin of the claim in some instances and no idea as to whether the claim is to be contested until a defendant appears at the time of trial.

6. There is protection for people in the military service since the court is brought up to the standards of the U. S. government in that where the defendant is in military service, an attorney is appointed as required by the Fedeal Soldiers and Sailors Civil Relief Act as amended, to represent the person in the military.

7. A right to appeal a judgment in the new county court is allowed; but, instead of an automatic new trial with the retaking of testimony, the district court, which will hear the matter on appeal, will review the record and decide whether to sustain the judgment, send the matter back for further testimony, or to take further testimony in the district court.

8. The new court will handle the violation of misdemeanors and other minor crimes where the punishment is confinement to the county jail. The court can bind over for trial those crimes of a more serious nature where the punishment may be confinement to the state penitentiary.

9. The county judges for El Paso county must be attorneys. There were no educational qualifications needed in order to be a justice of the peace.

10. After the second Tuesday in January, 1965, justice of the peace courts will no longer exist and the county court will take over its new duties.

11. The county court may hold its sessions at locations other than the county seat should the need arise.

Sgt. Butkovich Dies in England Town

T. Sgt. George J. Butkovich, 1330 N. Foote Ave., died in Lakenheath, England, May 20, while serving with the 48th Combat Support Group. He had been stationed there two years.

He was born in Johnson City, Ill., Dec. 10, 1917, and was educated in Christopher, Ill. He joined the Army Air Corps as a young man in 1941 and served in several World War II campaigns, including the battle against Rommel in Africa and the drive through Italy which terminated World War II.

In 1945 he returned to civilian life in the United States. He rejoined the Air Force when he came to Denver in 1946. In Denver he met Viola A. Wrampe and they were married in Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 4, 1948. They own their own home in Colorado Springs where the family is now living.

Sgt. Butkovich is survived by his wife, Mrs. Viola Butkovich, and five children, Carrollyn S., Cathye S., Barbara J., Betty J. and Thomas H. Butkovich, all of 1330 N. Foote Ave.; his father, Thomas Butkovich, of Shawneetown, Ill.; two brothers, Walter Butkovich, St. Clair Shores, Mich., and Lou Butkovich, Lafayette, Colo., and two sisters, Mrs. Tom Carleton, Swaneetown, Ill., and Mrs. Frank Hoesel, Chicago, Ill.

Rosary services were held at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Chapel at Sixteenth Street and Boulder, Denver. A Requiem High Mass was celebrated at Holy Ghost Catholic Church, Denver, at 9 a.m. today. Burial was in the Ft. Logan National Cemetery, with military honors by Lowry Air Force Base.

$100 Diamond Missing, Woman Tells Sheriff

Mrs. J. Whiteside, 304 Esther Dr., reported to the sheriff's office Tuesday that a diamond worth $100 had been either lost or stolen.

According to Deputy Sheriff Jack Ames, the diamond which had been removed from a ring, was in a box in the bedroom. The last time Mrs. Whiteside remembered seeing it was sometime in March.

Production of Two Pueblo Artists Shown in Springs

By JOHN FETLER
Arts Critic

A two-weeks' art show of productions by two Pueblo artists was launched in the lobby of the Colorado Springs National Bank Monday night with a special reception.

The exhibition is co-sponsored by New Art-Crafts school of the Black Forest.

On view, on the walls of the bank lobbies, are:

Paintings by Orlin Milton Helgoe and ceramics, sculpture and painting by Edward Sajbel. Both of them are faculty members of the art department at the Southern Colorado State College in Pueblo, and from the examples of this their own productions, it can be inferred with surety that their students are receiving excellent instruction.

Sajbel, the ceramist, who also teaches other courses, is working in terms of going back to the figure, with some clay sketches that show spontaneity and the sincerity of the material. He also has some fine stoneware on exhibit (all the works are for sale, by the way) and some reclining figures of mother and son.

Helgoe's paintings are abstracts, of various intense colorations, the most impressive and spectacular being one canvas which shows, at the bottom, the outline of a Western mountain scene, the rest of the canvas being filled with the immensity of the sky. It is particularly this painting which, after an initial surprise, generates a great deal of thought, and becomes more powerful with every viewing of it. We almost wish that somebody would buy it for a building here in Colorado Springs, where it could be hung and seen from some distance, because it spells the typically Western mood of a limitless sky.

Helgoe is a native of Montana. He graduated from Eastern Montana College, taught in the public high school of Fairbanks, Alaska, and holds the degree of Master of Fine Arts from Cornell. His subject matter ranges from Western themes to the purely impressionistic. And, according to Al Wynne, director of Arts-Crafts, the versatility of Helgoe's technique has won for him showings in many parts of the country.

Sajbel, the sculptor, received his Master of Arts degree from Colorado State College, and he has done advanced study at Denver University and at the Colorado Springs Fine Arts Center, earning a reputation as an artist and teacher. As Wynne commented, Sajbel's display of water colors, bronze sculpture and ceramics, bear the mark of a sensitive craftsman.

Peak Snow Sticks Tourists Tuesday

An official of the Pikes Peak cog railroad Tuesday said that about 45 temporarily snow-bound tourists atop 14,110-foot Pikes Peak Tuesday, regarded the experience as "delightful."

Railway spokesman Earl Fisher said that a routine transfer of passengers was made to another train for the return trip and was entirely without incident.

New and drifting snow during the past week was attributed as the cause for temporarily stranding the cog train near the Summit House for about three hours.

Osteopathic Hospital Has Opened Doors

The new Mamie Doud Eisenhower Osteopathic Hospital opened its doors on Monday for admission of patients. The hospital is now fully staffed with its complement of registered nurses, licensed practical nurses, nurses' aides and orderlies.

The medical staff is composed at present of ten osteopathic physicians, with Dr. O. D. Fry as chief of staff. The 63 bed general hospital has continued to reserve a number of beds for convalescent and geriatric patients.

Dedication ceremonies and open house will be held at 12:30 p.m. on Saturday, the hour having been chosen to comply with availability of live radio coverage of the program over KRDO Visitors will be welcomed throughout the afternoon.

Three TV Sets Stolen From Sapp Enterprises

Three portable TV sets worth a total of $292 were stolen from Sapp Enterprises, 820 S. Wahsatch Ave., over the weekend after thieves broke a rear window to enter the business. Victim of the theft was Arthur Sapp, who reported the burglary to police.

In another theft case, two pairs of slacks and a transistor radio worth a total of $35 were stolen from the car of Thomas Gerardi, 130 Deer Pass, Manitou Springs. Gerardi said the theft happened Monday night or early Tuesday morning while the car was parked in an alley at the rear of 107 S. Tejon St. Thieves broke a vent window to enter the car.

Youth Receives Graduation Gift From City Judge

Joe Stephen, 2246 Afton Way, received a graduation gift of sorts Tuesday from Municipal Judge Allan Asher. The judge suspended the 17-year old boy's $5 fine on a charge of parking in an alley.

Joe Graduates tonight from Wasson High School.

Another graduate, William Stanisich, 21, who received his bachelor of science degree Monday from Colorado College, did not do so well in court Tuesday. The Minnesota nan was found guilty of careless driving and received a $35 fine. However, it could have been worse, for Judge Asher found Stanisich not guilty of a reckless driving charge.

David Hatch, 15, of 2916 Garden Hill Dr., pleaded guilty to two charges of reckless driving and was fined $25 on each charge, plus having his motorcycle impounded in the city's Violations Bureau for 30 days at the youth's expense.

James Wheeler of Manitou Springs had originally pleaded not guilty to a reckless driving charge in the Violations Bureau. In court Tuesday, he changed his plea to guilty, and then switched his plea back to not guilty. Judge Asher found him guilty as charged and levied a $35 fine.

Victor Milmer, 45, 2310 McArthur Ave., pleaded guilty to charges of careless driving and injury to city property. He was fined $15 on the first and disposition on the second charge was continued until June 16.

The case of Lyda Iberg, 23, 1531 Oswego St., was continued until June 17. Mrs. Iberg is charged with careless driving and injury to city property.

Jacquelyn Lightner, 54, Cliff House, Manitou Springs, was found guilty of committing a nuisance and received a $50 fine. She was also found guilty of being drunk and received a $50 fine on this, plus a 10-day jail sentence.

When Mrs. Lightner gave her occupation as a "retired housewife," Judge Asher commented that he didn't think housewives ever retired.

Donald Mitchell, 30, 519 E. Cunarron St., pleaded not guilty to charges of riotous conduct and drunkennes lodged against him by his wife Audie. His case was set for Monday.

Lawrence Robideau, 22, 704 N. Wahsatch Ave., pleaded guilty to breach of peace and was fined $25. A charge of riotous conduct was dismissed against the man.

Desert Strikers Set to Return to Carson Thursday

The first 5th Infantry Division (Mechanized) convoy to return from Exervise Desert Strike is scheduled to reach Ft. Carson at 2:30 p.m., Thursday.

The next two serials of this convoy are set to turn off Interstate 25 at Fountain at 3:55 p.m. and 4:50 p.m., respectively.

This convoy will bring back the 5th Division advance party along with the 1st Battalion, 77th Armor, and 4th Squadron, 12th Cavalry, both of which left Ft. Carson at the end of March for Ft. Irwin, Calif., before reporting for Exercise Desert Strike.

The remainder of the division components will follow on June 5 through 9 in this order: Task Force Eversole, Task Force Hickman, Tast Force Hughes, Task Force Spilman and Task Force Baldwin. Daily arrival times should begin at approximately 2:30 p.m.

The 706th Maintenance Battalion will be divided among all the task forces. The separate battalions will be in Task Force Eversole. Other units will be with their respective brigades, 5th Division Artillery, Support Command and 7th Engineer Battalion.

The 5th Administration Company will be in Task Force Baldwin the final convoy.

Ft. Carson companies assigned to Exercise Desert Strike include the 529th Signal Company which is scheduled to arrive at 4 p.m., Friday, June 5; the 267th Signal Company between June 10 and 15; and the 557th Transportation Company approximately June 19 except for one detachment with Task Force Hickman on Saturday, June 6.

Between 3,000 and 4,000 vehicles will be on the road with some 10,000 men in the return trip from Davis Dam on the Colorado River.

Parents-Without-Partners To Celebrate Anniversary

The Colorado Springs Chapter No. 36 of Parents Without Partners will celebrate their third anniversary June 20, with a dinner.

The Parents - without - Partners is a nonprofit, nonsectarian educational organization dedicated to the welfare and interests of single parents and their children. Their primary endeavor is directed toward bringing children to a healthy adulthood with the fullest sense of dignity and acceptance as persons.

The organization provides an interchange of problems and solutions through guest speakers, group discussion, lectures and a host of social activities. The local organization meets regularly each week and month at the First Congregational Church at the corner of Tejon and St. Vrain Sts., at 8 o'clock Sunday evening for conversation and coffee, and monthly on the third Thursday, with a professional person as guest speaker.

The organization plans a monthly calendar of various social activities to include adults, children and teenagers. They are all looking forward to a busy summer of activities which will include picnics for children; patio steak fry for adults; a day of miniature golf; discussion groups for widows and widowers; discussion groups for parents of teenagers; discussion group meetings for divorced persons; ball games and birthday parties for children.

The new status of a single parent is full of opportunities one never realizes. It is the time to develop new interests and make new friends. Past relationships change and new ones develop.

Any parent who is single due to death, divorce or separation and is interested, is welcomed and invited to visit the meetings at any time.

Mrs. Curtis LeMay, wife of Gen. LeMay, USAF Chief of Staff, was the honored guest at a coffee Tuesday morning given by the Ent Officers' Wives Club, at the Skyline Club. Mrs. John K. Gerhart, honorary president of the club, presented a check for $1,500 to Mrs. LeMay, representing funds raised for Air Force Village, a national project designed to provide a permanent home for widows of Air Force personnel.

Mrs. LeMay is founder of the proposed AF Village idea, which has the declared purpose of easing problems facing mothers and widows of Air Force Officers. She believes this is the ultimate solution for these problems.

President and Mrs. Lyndon Johnson are honorary co-chairmen of the Village, and Miss Jacqueline Cochran is chairman, adding her admirable services to making the project a reality. A set amount of money is being donated by every Air Force Officer to finance the undertaking.

Mrs. LeMay has set a goal of $4,000,000 to be raised by AF personnel.

"The Air Force takes care of its own," she declared. "In reality, this project has the goal of assuring a comfortable, pleasant home for women of the Air Force, and the same women who are now actively participating in raising funds, will benefit from its reality.

"The Ent Officers' Wives Club, with the presentation of this check, has to date donated $3,000. This and forthcoming donations from clubs throughout the various commands will assure success of the Air Force Village.

"The Air Force succeeds, not because it is easy, but because Air Force personnel are dedicated to achieve success!" she declared emphatically.

Many Air Force dignitaries are on Miss Cochran's committee, including Lt. Gen. Elmer Rogers and Maj. Gen. Robert E. L. Eaton of Washington, D.C.

Canon BPW Club Meets

Members of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Canon City held their business meeting in the club room of the Municipal Building recently. Mrs. Anthony Merlino, presided.

Mrs. Gladys Yarberry was initiated as a new member. The committee for the evening was composed of Miss Giovannine, Miss Arlene Kragh, Mrs. Mary Scavarda and Mrs. Edith Wilson.

Elkettes Hold Covered Dish Supper at Lodge

Mrs. Mary Scavarda reported on the Elks luncheon in Colorado Springs. On the committee for the evening were the Mrs. Pauline McDougal, Mrs. Amy Cox, Mrs. Willa McCormick, Mrs. Bob Emmerson, Mrs. Pat Knight and Mrs. Clara Lowry.

Keep that poppy seed, tightly covered in a jar, in the refrigerator and it won't go rancid.

Mrs. Mitchell Heads Canon City AAUW

Mrs. W. C. Mitchell was installed at president of the Canon City branch of the American Association of University Women at a breakfast meeting at Carl's Restaurant. Others installed were Mrs. J. E. Holloway, second vice and Mrs. Ivan Paintin, secretary.

Mrs. Conrad Miller was installing officer. The committee for arrangements was composed of the Mrs. Earle O. Meyer, Mrs. Florence Endicott, Mrs. A. B. Childears, Mrs. Jeanette Stebbins and Mrs. Joyce Renfrow.

Mrs. W. C. Mitchell, Mrs. William Hurst and Mrs. John Hofmann, delegates to the AAUW state convention held in Ft. Collins in May, gave reports on the various meetings and functions.

A letter was read from this year's local award girl, Dotsie Bennett. Mrs. Frank Arnold and Mrs. Adella Archer, alternates to the convention, also spoke briefly. Mrs. Miller described the convention luncheon and Mrs. Richard Radley spoke on emerging issues.

Possible projects for next year were discussed by Mrs. Eli Worden, "World Problems"; Mrs. Eric Domroese, "Cultural Interests"; Mrs. Harry L. Johnson, "Expectations for Education"; and Mrs. James Bruner, "Community Problems."

ULC Rebekah Circle Meets in Rockvale Home

Mrs. Elmer Watkins of Rockvale was hostess at the recent meeting of the Rebekah Circle of the United Lutheran Church Women. Mrs. John Schmier presented the lesson.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Glenn Wallace, Mrs. Bill Satter, Mrs. Dexter McNell and Tina, Mrs. John Schmier, Mrs. Watkins, Mrs. Lynn Wallace and Mrs. Shirley Andrews.

To saute fresh mushrooms so no flavor cooks out, slice caps and stems, put them into the top of the double boiler, add butter or margarine, salt to taste and cook over gently boiling water until done.

Your Freedom Newspaper
Ever striving for the Pikes Peak Region to be an even better place to live

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Teen-Age Spending

Money is important. Learning how to use it is important. Learning how not to waste it is about the most important part of learning how to use it.

In prior days we have discussed the nature of money, why it is important to have a sound "full-bodied" money and why credit, although useful, is risky.

We have also talked about our Federal Reserve system and the enormous hold it has gotten over all our money and all our credit in this nation.

But right now we want to take up the way young people in school handle money. Perhaps it will come as a shock to you to realize that teenagers in this country are spending about $11 billion annually. That is a great deal of money. How much time have you spent in teaching your teenager habits of thrift and careful buying?

Did you know that teenagers, since 1945, have had their supply of pocket money increased by about 300 per cent? That's what the figures show.

Here's another figure to conjure with. The national average income per week from all sources going into teenage pockets and purses comes to $9.45. That's $489 per year. There are about 22½ million teenagers in the nation.

It is estimated that by 1970 the cash outlay of American teenagers will come close to $21 billion annually.

What is shockingly apparent, and most of the experts agree on it, is that little if any effort has been expended either in the school or at home to instill in the minds of these young people just what money is and what it is worth. The teenage period is obviously the time to attack the problem. And certainly the home is the place to begin.

Of course schools could help. But since most of the schools in the land dealing with teenagers are government schools, it is expecting little short of a miracle for government school personnel to instruct their charges with the real value of money. Since these schools spend money with profligacy and provide the youngsters with palaces made of brick and marble, together with auditoriums, swimming pools, classes in dancing, singing and cookie making, the young person today finds a growing disparity between his life at home and his hours at school.

In the tax-supported taj mahals of learning, every item present encourages free spending and luxury. The young person may be told that thrift is important. But everywhere he sees the evidence of what happens when thrift is forgotten and free spending is indulged. He learns that to be popular he has to have a bit of spending money. No point in saving for the future, for the proverbial "rainy day" or just to acquire sound habits of handling money. The atmosphere is one of "easy come, easy go." Always "plenty more where that came from." And so on.

The result of all the factors present helps to make our youth irresponsible and careless. Yet it is important to acknowledge that more than half of all the young men in the teenage group earn some of their own spending money themselves and don't just look to Dad to supply it.

The trouble seems to be that few of them acquire sound judgment and caution in their laying out of funds.

This is proved by the kind of things the young people buy. Very few save up for truly significant purchases. Most of all the money they handle will go for food and recreation. Quite a sizable number will buy some or all of their clothing. But providence seems to stop there. Large numbers of girls will buy their own cosmetics and toilet articles. But very few will save up their own money to buy their own car without Dad's help.

Still fewer will put money aside to tide them over after school days while they are job hunting. And still fewer make any attempt to save enough so they can go into a small business with their own capital.

On the plus side it should be noted that quite a number of the young people with jobs join in voluntarily to pay some of their earnings into the family funds. Truly, the young people generally evince all of the worthwhile psychological patterns, yet they have little or no special training relating to money itself.

The young folks aren't any more profligate than their parents. It's just that they have larger opportunities, and if anything, they know less about what to do with them. Sound training in the handling of money is a vital necessity for our young people.

Intruder

The more suspicious a government becomes of its own people, the more it will invade their privacy as a means of anticipating problems.

Government Regulations And Tariffs on Watches

For many years, whenever one thought of watches one was apt to think of Switzerland, where at a very early date Swiss watchmakers produced a fine array of truly splendid time pieces.

In fact, for a number of years, a great many of the watches sold in America had had their inner workings constructed in Switzerland. Most watches now which are completely manufactured in the U.S.A. have what is called a "pin-lever" mechanism. Nearly all of the jeweled movements have been imported from Switzerland.

But the Japanese are an ambitious and an ingenious people. And in recent months Japan has been moving into the watch-making business, competing with Switzerland for American import business.

Last year, the Japanese shipped about a million and a half watch movements into the U.S. and that was nearly double the total shipped in the preceding year. This year, the Japanese are angling for an increase of this business by another 30 per cent.

What the Japanese have been doing is this. They have studied Swiss watch-making techniques and adapted them to American assembly-line methods. With a superb labor market to draw from, the Japanese can outproduce both the Swiss and the Americans and can offer a good product at a low price.

But this isn't all. The observant Japanese ship their watch innards to the U.S.-owned Virgin Islands. There they are fitted with dials, straps and the other parts of a good watch and re-shipped to continental U.S.A.

By making this stop at the Virgin Islands, the Japanese avoid the payment of a high tariff duty which ranges from $2.70 to $10.75 per watch, if the goods were shipped directly to the U.S. There is a very low tariff duty in the Virgin Islands since the U.S. government has kept that tariff low as an encouragement to industries which are trying to operate in the islands.

There is no tariff at all between Virgin Island exports and American imports.

But Switzerland has a law which prohibits them from re-exporting their products. Thus, the Swiss are handicapped in dealing with American firms as they must import directly into the U.S.A. and pay the high tariff involved.

This three-way tangle concerning the manufacture of watches has already injured American production of watches and keeps prices on all time pieces higher than there is any reason to have them. Properly, each watch maker, regardless of his place of domicile, should be free to make his watches in the most skillful way he knows and at the lowest price possible. Then, not only the American public would benefit but so would the citizens of any other country. All of us would have access to all kinds of watches and these instruments would be competing with each other on their merits and not on the basis of political expediency and political favoritism.

What so many seem to misunderstand is government's role in this whole business. Government cannot "aid" one segment of the economy without administering a corresponding injury elsewhere. And, in the final analysis, all such injury is finally passed along to the ultimate consumer wherever he may be.

In a protected market, which often appears desirable to manufacturers, the edge is taken off competition and high prices are supported, as are inefficient production techniques and non-economic wage rates. Once a market is stripped of its protection and goods must compete on their own merit, prices begin to go down and improvement can be generally noted. Customers benefit, and the benefit of customers is passed along to the firm or firms which have developed and maintained the most superior management and production techniques.

Thus, in the Japan - Swiss - U.S.A. struggle over the watch market, it turns out that Americans have suffered the most. Our government first deliberately adopted policies which aided foreign production. We gave money to foreign governments which assisted in financing foreign competition. This money came through the taxing of American individuals and American business of all kinds.

Having financed foreign competition, the American government next put in tariffs to protect (belatedly) American manufacturers. All this did, in fact, was to support union - inspired wage rates which are non-economic and wholly unrealistic in a world market.

Finally, having first encouraged Swiss production, the American government is now favoring Japanese production which throws the Swiss into a possible secondary position. And all of this distortion of the market, this injury to all producers and consumers (except Japan at the moment), is unnecessary.

What will Japan do, when, at some future date, the American government passes a new law which will encourage some other nation (possibly in the Congo) to make watches? The Japanese will find themselves at a disadvantage and the merry-go-round turns once more.

Central economic planning can never provide the benefits that a free and open market provides constantly.

The Local Scene

After Long Hibernation

By RUFUS L. PORTER

Running a tourist business is similar to living in Brigadoon. Brigadoon is the Scottish village that comes alive one day in every hundred years. For 24 hours it is the liveliest of towns. Living as it did centuries ago, for modernity has never touched it. On the stroke of midnight the citizens lie down to sleep for another hundred years. Of course, Brigadoon is the product of some playwright's imagination.

But most tourist businesses are also the results of imagination. They don't hibernate for 100 years, but they do sleep for eight or nine months out of every year. And how they do come alive when the long sleep is over. Places like Seven Falls and the Cave of the Winds, that stay open the year around, never experience the yearly death and resurrection that happens to the strictly seasonal attractions.

At Santa's Work Shop, for instance, a few scouts arrive about two weeks early, but the main body of gnomes, elves and storybook characters do not appear on the scene until the first of June. Then, suddenly, the place is swarming with all of Santa's "helpers" again and the people (customers) arrive in droves.

From then until Labor Day, festivities are the order of the day. Laughter and shrieks of delight are heard the day long as young and old find pleasure in feeding the animals and the ducks and geese, or trying to get snapshots of the gorgeous peacocks with their tails spread.

For three months the Work Shop resembles the fairyland it is supposed to be. Then, as suddenly as they appeared, most of the elfin and storybook characters (and the customers) disappear and, though the place remains open until Christmas, much of the verve is gone. But it will return again next year, and the next and the next, as surely as the swifts return to the Garden of the Gods.

I have had quite a few people tell me that they like to come early, or late, in the season to avoid the crowds. But the crowds seem to enjoy themselves and the place thoroughly.

There are many other tourist attractions which thrive for their short three or four months yearly and hibernate from early fall until late spring. The folding up in fall is always sort of sad, but the joy of reopening in the spring more than makes up for it. The joy is there, of course, only if you do enjoy making people (tourists or natives) happy. And, after all, you'd better try, that's what you are in business for.

A tourist business in the winter time is a dismal, gloomy, deserted looking place. So — don't wait until wintertime, get out and see them now, you'll enjoy them even if you have "seen them all before."

To change the subject, I am one of those who is opposed to government "hunters" being hired to kill off all of our coyotes, or other predators, for that matter. They serve a useful purpose in our economy by keeping the rodent population in balance.

Hal G. Evarts, a great writer of Westerns, once wrote a book entitled, "The Yellow Horde," which showed more understanding of, and sympathy for, coyotes than anything else I ever read. He explains in detail how wily and adaptable the coyote is and how he has learned to live, and even increase, in the midst of civilization. He also explains the coyote's usefulness to man, and he is plenty useful, more than enough to offset the theft of an occasional chicken, which is about the only possession of man that he has much taste for.

Evarts closes the book with this statement, "There will be a million coyotes left to howl when the last man dies." But he wrote "The Yellow Horde" before the hunters started using the devilish cyanide guns. These contraptions destroy all sorts of innocent animals besides coyotes, including many valuable hunting and other dogs.

I don't believe it is the business of the government to pay killers to go out and try to exterminate any species of animal. They had the coyotes nearly all killed off in eastern Colorado and western Kansas 30 or 40 years ago and the jackrabbits overran the country. The farmers and ranchers had to ask the government to lay off slaughtering the coyotes, the jackrabbits' natural enemy.

Coyotes are beautiful creatures and I love to hear them howl at night. I killed a couple when I was punching cows in Wyoming many years ago, but that was part of my job then. But I wouldn't kill one now, even for money. There are too many out to slaughter them already. The same goes for mountain lions or bobcats, as far as I am concerned. I have had them in my sights more than once and never pulled the trigger.

Many Colorado farmers and ranchers are again voicing their displeasure of the government's all-out war on coyotes. The trouble is the government has these hired killers on civil service and doesn't know what else to do with them.

Flickering Beacons

By FRANK McDONOUGH

A few short years ago there was a popular book and lecture called "Acres of Diamonds." If you will step up a short distance on one of our hillsides as twilight is falling over the vast city, you will see hundreds of acres of glowing lights, each one of which is a beacon or torch of American liberties. Some of these flickering beacons cover abuses of our liberties but generally each glowing diamond signifies the progress of America and embodies the fundamental freedoms which we cherish so deeply.

Some point out the way where one may drive in decency and courtesy in protection of the life of the driver and his fellow citizens. Others are emblazoned lights advertising the wares of free enterprise. But the vast majority of these diamonds of the eventide house the souls and privileges of American family life. Many of these are modest five- or six-room dwellings in which live, in peace and freedom, American parents and their children.

Under communism, in millions of cases two or three families, with as many as twelve individuals ranging from the aged to brides and grooms and children coming into puberty, are mixed in housing quarters where the partitions are mere thin curtaining. This living under our godless enemy's system is in no sense a glowing diamond of freedom.

Think of this when you look out into the evening skies and see the flickering stars of the firmament merging with the beauty of the acres and hundred of acres of glittering beacons where each light burns with the knowledge that the family will be there in the morning free from the terrors of the police state. Look out over the evening sky and know that each of these acres of freedom's light are torches which each individual must protect and carry with all of his political and spiritual strength. Otherwise, the burning sparkle of your liberty may be dimmed beyond your power to redeem in all its present glory.

ATTITUDE

To the Editor:

The promotion of RIGHT ATTITUDE is one of the two major projects of the SWAP (Salesman With A Purpose) Club. At this time when Right Attitude Week is being observed in the Pikes Peak Region it might be well to consider such questions as, what is right attitude and just how important is it?

The dictionary says attitude is a "state of mind, behavior, or conduct regarding some matter, as indicating opinion or purpose." Obviously, attitude involves two or more persons if it has any meaning at all. A person's state of mind will be expressed in his behavior and conduct. When purpose and matter involve only one person, only one decision is necessary and no problem exists. It is when two or more persons are involved that problems arise, since it is possible that there will be differing opinions or purposes.

Life is impossible without matter and the degree of success in dealing with matter will be determined by how well our purposes and opinions are accepted by others. In the interchange of opinions and purposes all avenues of human communications must be utilized. Since communication with others is necessary to life and that communication begins with the inner attitude of one person toward those with whom he comes in contact and must deal, it naturally follows that a right attitude should be our first concern and goal.

My idea of a right attitude is one in which all concerned are in perfect accord and the results of the agreement will be profitable to all. As I understand it, the Word of God being the source of my knowledge and wisdom, we are not created for perfection, but are created to serve the purpose of the Creator and He will give us the victory over life's problems.

Circumstances, which are the result of the combined actions of all the people, may affect and influence an attitude but only the individual has control of his attitude. Attitudes being molded within each individual, then we can only conclude that outside pressures from other individuals or groups cannot change attitude. Nevertheless, there are many persons who believe passing a law backed by force of government power will bring about right attitude. However, those of us who have experienced such action know that this method of procedure is not an incentive to RIGHT attitude.

POSITIVE — NEGATIVE

To the Editor:

"Is there a negative for every positive?" This is Question No. 499 which recently appeared in the Question Box. The question is profound, so much so, in fact, that it cannot be answered by a simple yes or no. Since certain aspects of this question have been a part of my daily work in electronics for more than 40 years, I have made a philosophical study of the whole problem. As would be expected, I have in that time gathered many facts and formed some opinions about the question. I have taught it, written about it, and lectured on it, so that I feel that I have a little more than a speaking acquaintance with it, but I do not claim to be an authority on the subject.

For the purpose of this discussion positive may be associated with a force, action, motion, etc., in a given direction; negative with a force, action, motion, etc., in the opposite direction. Neither is complete without the other and without equilibrium, balance, neutrality, equality, at rest, zero, etc. But whether the discussion centers around the mathematical, the physical, or the social aspects of the question, the property of inertia cannot be long avoided.

If the question had been restricted to mathematics and the physical sciences, then the laws of algebra, Newton's laws of force and motion, Einstein's relativity, and certain laws of other physical sciences would automatically exclude my answer except an unequivocal yes. But "every positive" is not restrictive; it is all-inclusive, and therefore it must include the arts and the social sciences, which introduce many complications that cannot be answered with a simple yes or no.

"Anything has a value only with respect to a point of reference or observation." This axiom of mathematics and the physical sciences appears to be universal in application. Although "relative polarity," derived from this axiom, has been applied mainly to mathematics and the physical sciences, it does apply to many events outside the fields of science. In relative polarity there is always a positive, a negative, and a zero, and any event involving them must be evaluated in magnitude and direction from a point of reference or observation (zero). From this particular point of view there must always be a negative for every positive. However, when applied to human relations one cannot be certain, with our present knowledge, that this is true.

The weakness in this kind of disputation lies in our inability to separate facts from opinions. To compound the problem we invent many kinds of magic to explain the things we do not understand. All too frequently this magic becomes dogmatic. Any number of persons may view a physical event from a given point of observation and the results of the observation will always be the same. The sun rises in the east, two plus two equals four, and the union of oxygen with iron results in rust are some examples. But let 100 persons view a social event and there are apt to be 99 different opinions and one fact. Religion is an outstanding example, since there are 11 or more major religions and several hundred religious sects in the world. There are 252 different religious bodies in the U.S. Politics is another outstanding example. Because these and other social events are predicated on personal opinions rather than on facts, there is little room for agreement. With our present knowledge it is not possible, then, to point to these social views and say with certainty that the event or its results are predictable.

Predictability is becoming more and more a criterion on which to detect or measure the differences between natural laws and man-made codes of ethics. If a man falls from a skyscraper, the results will be predictable because the event is governed by natural physical laws which are inviolable and immutable. If a man falls from a moral skyscraper, the results, if any, may not be predictable, because the event and its results may not be governed by natural laws or by civil laws. The moral culprit, who may not even have a guilty conscience, may, without compunction but with moral, civil, and physical immunity, evade all forms of punishment. If and when the question, "Is there a negative for every positive?" as applied to human relations (the social sciences), can be answered in the affirmative under the terms of predictability, then and only then can it be said that its application is universal.

The sociological aspects of this question have been with us in one form or another for about 2,500 years. One is found in the dialectic, "creation, destruction, and alteration," of the Eleatic school of philosophy in ancient Greece; another, in Hegel's dialectic, "thesis, antithesis, and synthesis." Regardless of the wording of these dialectics they are parallel, perhaps in meaning and at least in expression, to the physical laws of action (positive), reaction (negative), and equilibrium (zero). But since unpredictable human actions and reactions are included in the sociological aspects of our question, it is not yet possible to affirm or deny the truth of the problem.

But it is possible that that which we do not know today may become knowable in the future. In discussing certain aspects of this problem with a professor of psychology he stated that the most urgent need in the social sciences is intensive and extensive research in mathematical psychology, so that we may be able, he hoped, to express human behavior in precise mathematical formulae as we now express physical events. Fantastic? Not at all. Please remember that man has inhabited our planet for about 500,000 years, but mainly within the past 500 years, and notably the past 50, has he been able to express physical and natural events with precise mathematical formulae. Space travel, electronics, nuclear physics, atomic power, plastics are some examples.

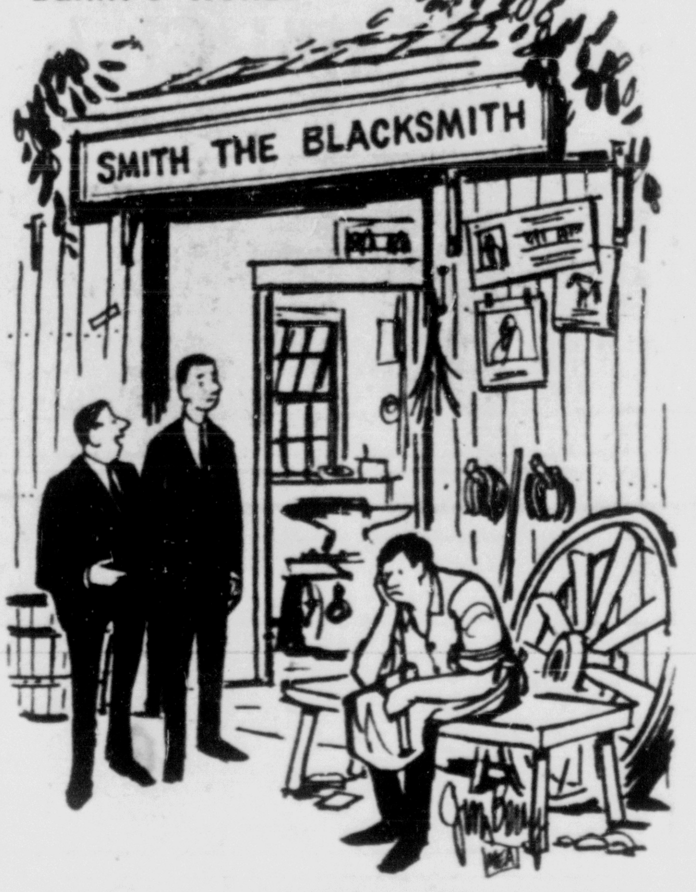
BERRY'S WORLD



"Smith used to be a coal miner until he got into that job retraining program!"

Unrealistic

By GEORGE BOARDMAN

Every time I become involved in a discussion of the freedom philosophy, one question invariably rears its tired head: Will socialism end in a bloody revolution? I do not believe a bloody revolution will mark the end of socialism in this country. I do not believe communism will end in a bloody revolution in this country and I am equally sure that fascism will not disappear in a welter of blood and violence. For myself, I do not wish to see one form of government overthrow another form of government; I do not wish to see our present form of socialist-fascist government overthrown. I have been accused of being unrealistic.

Crimes of force and violence are increasing in number. A reduction in the number of crimes involving force and violence will occur when people do everything they can to protect their lives and property instead of depending upon government for protection which does not exist, in fact. If the people become as careless in protecting themselves and their property from fire as they have become in the matter of protecting their lives and property from violent criminality, everything which can be burned will go up in flames.

Let's try to look at the mess which plagues us from a sensible and realistic point of view. Because of a sometimes unthinking willingness to become receivers of stolen goods, we encouraged the thieves who thrive on socialism. If we refuse to do business with the thieves, they will go out of business because they have no customers.

Last year I became a bit careless in my dealings with a merchant. The merchant deliberately took advantage of my carelessness and sold me shoddy goods. I will gain no profit by punching the merchant or by instituting any form of aggressive force against him. I will profit by being more cautious in the future and certainly I will not provide the merchant with another opportunity to make a profit from me. I have learned a lesson. I will gain no profit by trying to teach him a lesson.

Every merchant is not a cheat. If ten merchants have cheated me during my life time, the odds are at least 10,000 to 1 that I will never be cheated again by a merchant intentionally.

For more years than I like to remember, I did sanction the right of politicians to rule over me, to steal from me and from others, and every politician I voted for cheated me, convinced me that I would be better off because I voted for him and if I could be better off because of his actions, another person or two certainly would suffer a loss.

It is impossible for me to now gain a profit by punching politicians. I would gain no profit if every politician I voted for was thrown in jail; in fact, I would then be saddled with a portion of the cost of providing the politician with room and board, medical and dental care, mental care, rehabilitation care and on and on and on.

Shall I start out to try to cause a revolution because I was foolish enough to vote for my own enslavement, because I sanctioned the right of others to rule over me and steal from me? Could any action stem from a less realistic point of view? I think not!

If you ever begin worrying about a horrible situation like a nation-wide revolution involving force and violence, I suggest a long, careful study of a map of the United States paying particular attention to the vast and empty spaces, the thousands of very small villages and towns and other pertinent data of this nature. Then center your thinking on the fact that the vast majority of the population is busily occupied with day-to-day living. If you get careless and imagine that even 20 per cent of the adult population just might revolt against anything, spread that one-fifth of the adults, both men and women, throughout the entire country and I believe you will begin to understand what I am talking about. There just wouldn't be enough skunks to go around. On the other hand, if you enjoy frightening yourself, have fun.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

NEW AT THE ZOO—This pair of Eurasian bear cubs are ready to perform their appealing antics for the public now that they have been placed on exhibit at the Cheyenne Mountain Zoo. The little bears were born at the zoo on Jan. 14 and until now have been given much the same care by Mrs. Marvin Voorhees of Fountain, as human baby receives. Mrs. Voorhees raises many of the zoo's young until they are old enough to appear in public. Daily hours at the zoo are 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. (Bob McIntyre Photo)

Deaths

NEW YORK (AP)—Matthew M. (Matty) Fox, 52, a pioneer in pay television, died Tuesday. Fox was president of Skiatron a company that introduced pay-as-you-see television into the United States. He was a former executive vice president of Universal - International Pictures and board chairman of United World Films. He was born in Racine, Wis.

NEW YORK (AP)—Bruce C. Forbes, 48, president of Forbes, Inc., publishers of a leading business and financial publication, died Tuesday of cancer. Forbes, who became president of the company after the death of his father in 1954, had worked with the firm since 1932. He was born in Brooklyn.

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Arch Bristow, 82, an active newsman for more than 50 years until he became ill three months ago, died Tuesday. He had written a local column of folky wit for the Erie News since 1957 and had been a columnist for the now defunct Erie Dispatch - Herald for 30 years.

The total national expenditures for medical care have risen from $3.6 billion in 1928 to approximately $33 billion in 1963.

Chief Defense Man of Jack Ruby Resigns

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Ruby's third chief defense counsel, legal-medical expert Dr. Hubert Winston Smith, has resigned to return to teaching at the University of Texas Law School.

Another defense lawyer, Phil Burleson, announced the action Tuesday and said he and Joe Tonahill will carry on the legal battle for Ruby, convicted of slaying Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

"We do not anticipate any new attorney in the case and do not for the present see any necessity for one," Burleson said.

Smith was not present Monday when Burleson and Tonahill conferred with Judge Joe Brown about Ruby's mental condition. They contend he has become insane since his March 14 conviction and sentencing to death.

Burleson said Smith felt he should return to teaching "to sustain himself and his family." He had accepted the case without a fee. University regents ruled Smith must take a leave of absence without pay while working on the Ruby case.

Ruby's original chief lawyer was fiery Melvin Belli of San Francisco, who was dismissed after the trial for remarks about the jury and Dallas.

His replacement, Percy Foreman of Houston, quit after four days over what he called a disagreement with Ruby's family.

In the last Presidential election, the 68.3 million votes were cast by 34.7 million men and 33.6 million women.

Green Mountain Falls News

By CAROLYN McADAMS — 687-9065

A "Welcome Home" party was given Rev. and Mrs. Conard Pyle, and family Thursday evening in Fellowship Hall, Church in the Wildwood, in connection with the regular monthly choir dinner meeting. The Pyle family returned May 25 from a four months' residence in New York, where the minister attended Union Seminary in a planned study program. The music committee made arrangements for the covered dish dinner, with Mr. and Mrs. Morris Hamilton furnishing the prime rib roast meat course. Fifty four persons attended, including husbands, wives and children of choir members. This was the last choir party of the year until fall plans are made. Present were: Mr. and Mrs. Conard Pyle and children, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stumbough, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Baltzer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ewart and family, Mr. and Mrs. "Hank" Kimbrough and his parents from California, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Quinn, his brother and his wife, with his mother and sister from California, Mr. and Mrs. John Hotson, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jones and granddaughter Deana Hageman, Mr. and Mrs. Crumbaker, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Behm and Sharon Behm, Mrs. Margaret Rockwell and children, Mr. and Mrs. Dar Elder, Miss Nancy Woods, Mrs. Achsah Hardin, Mrs. Audrey Mayer and Sam Mitchell.

The Children's Choir (fourth through eighth grades) will continue to function through Children's Day in June. Rehearsals are at 4 p.m., on Thursdays. There is a Mothers Committee to assist with transportation if this is a problem. Contact Mrs. Betty Hamilton (635-5301) for information. Mrs. Monte Brown, who started the children's choir this year, has moved to Arizona, with Mrs. Hamilton continuing to work with the youth choir until summer.

Fifty - two reservations were made for the May 25 stag dinner meeting of the Woodland Park Lions Club, held at Fisherman's Inn, by the lake. Jerry Mills, president, presided. Members were urged to contact neighbors and friends for items that can be sold at the June 28 auction to be held at the Brockhurst Boys Ranch. Don't throw anything away. It might be just what some one else wants.

Jim Akers, a new member of the Woodland Park Lions Club, is sponsoring a dance at his place of business, Crystola Inn, on Highway 24, to be given Saturday night June 6, $1 a couple, with proceeds to be a benefit for the Brockhurst Boys Ranch. The public is invited. Your attendance will be appreciated.

Miss Marguerite McLellan, writes from Hong Kong, on the last lap of her world tour, that she enjoyed the news from her Green Mountain Falls home. The ship Delor, taking her to Australia, is behind schedule and may cause her to be stranded in the Orient. A change in itinerary at Durban, she boarded the Dutch ship Stroat Van Diemen, which had a Chinese crew with Dutch officers. With the four passengers on the voyage to Singapore the chief officer, captain and his wife with the Chief Engineer, had meals together. Miss McLellan mentioned one meal served with chop sticks, which she managed fairly well. Days spent on the ship were very enjoyable with tall tales of adventure, a song session after the evening meals, bridge games and a pet dog called Miel, which came on the ship as a puppy and never goes ashore. In Hong Kong, our traveler visited the Union Church of Christ and toured the refugee apartments. Climbing seven flight of stairs, they visited the rooftop, where kindergarten classes were conducted. A resume of her travels is eagerly anticipated upon her return home.

House guests with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Quinn are his mother, Mrs. Margaret Quinn, and sister, Miss Wilma Quinn, from Lomita, Calif., accompanied by a brother and sister - in - law Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Quinn, from Long Beach, Calif. The visitors arrived May 26, on their way home from a circle trip through Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Yellowstone National Park, Black Hills and Superior, Neb., their home town, where they saw old friends and neighbors. They will visit here about two weeks.

An estimated crown of over 100 fishermen, women and children crowded the banks of the Lake on opening day Saturday, May 23. Many caught their quota of fish in less than 30 minutes. Pan sized mountain trout will be stocked in the lake in Green Mountain Falls every Monday thruout the summer. No state fishing license is required but state laws using only one pole must be obeyed. Fishing may be done from the rocked banks or from the island in the center of the lake. Fees for adults are $2 a day (limit of 6 fish) and children under 12, $1 (limit 3 fish). Picnic tables and barbecue pits are located in the park area surrounding the lake.

Nine members, with their horses, came to the meeting May 28, of the Four - H Club on horsemanship, held at the Rodeo Arena in Woodland Park. Jerry Martin, leader, gave instructions in reining, kneeling and figure eight formations. Tentative plans were started for a "Trail Ride" in the near future. All interested persons over 9 years old that have a horse, and can ride, are welcome to join in the future plans. The next meeting will be June 11, at 9 a.m., at the Rodeo Arena.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Jackson were delegates to the recent state Lions Convention, held in Durango and enjoyed a camping trip for a few days before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Widick of Benton, Kan., with their daughter, Miss Frieda Widick, from Wichita, were here for a few days' vacation at their cabin in Tranquil Acres.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Post, of Great Bend, Kan., have purchased the Wade Bell property, "Bell Pines," in Green Mountain Falls.

Korean Agents Face Charges of Torture

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Three government agents were arrested today on charges of torturing a student organizer of an antigovernment demonstration May 20.

The men surrendered to the Seoul prosecutor's office and admitted they took part in the torturing of Song Chul-won, a senior at Seoul National University, authorities said.

The rally erupted into a rock-throwing riot. Scores of policemen and students were injured in several hours of street fighting. More than 40 persons were arrested. Song said he was severely tortured by a group of plainclothesmen later.

Looking at Hollywood

WRITER TELLS WHY HOLLYWOOD IN DISGRACE

HOLLYWOOD — A letter from a Hollywood screen writer who pleads for anonymity: "Your column campaigning for clean movies disturbed me. I tried to ignore it, but couldn't. We have hundreds of writers who can give us virtuous, victorious heroines, shelves full of good manuscript. Why aren't they selling?

"Like all sentimental stories, this begins with: Once upon a time a placed called Hollywood was the glamor capital of the world. The influence of their films was overwhelming —they spread the image of America to the far corners of this earth. The motion picture was a mighty weapon, a force for good.

"There is a big, bad wolf in this story. It's called communism, altho it goes under a number of other titles. The big wolf had a serious problem: How to tell the people that the American system of free enterprise stinks, that it crushes the workers, that it is decadent, when their films disprove it. When they show huge tracts of charming homes lived in by average workers; shop girls living in modern apartments with private baths, radio and TV sets; average families owning automobiles. When they see happy children in happy homes. How are you going to discredit the 'from rags to riches' idea when there is evidence that in America it can be done?

"Now let me quote from the horse's mouth. Here is something written by the late Boris Pasternak in 'Doctor Zhivago' which won him the Noble prize for literature and also won him death.

"'It was then that untruth came down on our land of Russia. The main misfortune, the root of all evil to come, was the loss of confidence in the value of one's own opinion. People imagined that it was out of date to follow their own moral sense, that they must sing in chorus, and live by other people's notions, that were being crammed down everybody's throat.'

"It isn't easy," the letter continues, "to discredit the image of a nation and people imitated the world over, but it can be done when clever minds make it their purpose. Direct attack will not do it but a subtle whispering campaign will let the foolish, naive people do it themselves. It starts with a few well-aimed bombs dropped among that group of dilettantes known as 'intellectuals.' These are the boys and girls in ivory towers who don't bother to think, only repeat what they hear and talk in irresponsible chatter.

"The ideas that started the erosion: Give America a guilt complex. Show bankers as immoral, unscrupulous. Show women as predatory, nymphomaniacs or psychos. Show men as slobs. Show a class warfare. Get the critics to start sniping at plays, books and films being made — get them to praise 'social significance.' Show slobs in undershirts drinking beer out of cans and beating their wives. Show dirty little children running in gangs and becoming juvenile delinquents. Get the teen-agers to discard their neatness in dress, their good manners and run in packs. This is a long range program.

"To get the movement going you need emissaries, and when you acquire converts, you infiltrate the critics, writers, actors. You go after the Hollywood movie industry because it has the strongest world influence. Once you get the American image into disgrace, the rest is easy. Infiltrate schools, colleges, professions, politics, yes even churches.

"Boris Pasternak might just as well have been writing about president-day America as he did about his native Russia. Let's have it again and let it soak in: 'It was then that untruth came down on our land (of America). The loss of confidence in the value of one's own opinion. People imagined that it was out of date to follow their own moral sense.'

"And there you have it. Who's to blame? All of us. The authors who tried to keep their integrity, to paint images of good people, more noble than themselves — got booted out. Those who held out, who refused to become rhinoceros and run with the herd still can't come back. They're old hat. Sentiment is the enemy of socialism. What is it the commies say when they want to downgrade our kind: 'Petty bourgeois sentimentality!'

"Why do they continually fight our kind? Because they're afraid. They know that when we get our confidence and strength back their days are numbered. The great mass of our people will awaken to the lies they've been spreading."

Close to six million customers visit the famed Radio City Music Hall in New York City each year.

Every Little Thing Crucial In Show for TV

By JOAN CROSBY

NEW YORK (NEA) — Julie Harris, one of the towering talents of today's theater, was propped up in bed determined to go on with a scheduled meeting, but worried that she might have something contagious.

Fragile Julie, who was suffering from a mild virus, manages to be a dedicated performer who is still considerate of those around her. Unlike some actors, who expect the world handed to them, she is amazed at the degree of consideration returned to her.

Julie has just made her filmed television debut in "The Robrioz Ring," for the Kraft Suspense Theater. The show will be telecast in color on NBC-TV Thursday, May 28. Julie could not get over the thoughtful treatment which the entire crew showed during the filming of the show.

"They take such care for the smallest details," she said in her distinctive voice, deep and strong, yet whisper - soft. "It's so amazing to me because I'm from the theater where people can take all the time they need to prepare a show and still, either from sloppiness or lack of caring, mistakes are made. But in filmed television, where they are pressed for time, every little thing is important.

"For instance, wherever I stood on the set—just for one moment—a chair appeared beside me. The make-up man never left my side, repairing my face. I remember thinking "He's really watching me. He cares'. The cameraman, Bud Thackeray, was wonderful. He was so considerate about lighting, which is not easy with someone so fair as I. He didn't have to bother as much as he did. It was," she said with great sincerity," "a joy to work with people who care so much."

With Julie the play is very much the thing. She liked the script of Suspense Theater, although she says she is not offered as many television scripts as people might suppose.

"I am so identified with the stage, aren't I?" she asks.

She imagines she would be interested in appearing on filmed television more often (All her appearances on Hall of Fame have been on tape, which means they are performed as live shows.) She will work any time, any place. Unlike too many performers, with her, money is not all.

"I would like to go back to the times when actiing was 'sing for your supper'. The theater has gotten too expensive, but everything has. I don't know where our economy is going. I have to try to make a certain amount of money each year for living expenses, and it really seems far too much."

As soon as she recovered from her virus she began rehearsals as Ophelia for the New York Shakespeare Festival production of Hamlet. This will be performed in New York's Center Park, where the audience does not have to pay, and the actors work for minimum salaries.

"It really is so exciting to think about it," she smiled. "The audiences in the park are so attentive, so rapt by what they are hearing. I have never acted there before, but I have seen many productions. I have been longing to play Ophelia — I haven't since school.

"This is really a labor of love for everyone connected with the production. And yet," she added. "I'm being paid $200 a week. It seems to me to be a very good salary."

Judge Is Dumped From Swivel Chair

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Superior Court Judge Frank J. Kingfield found judicial tenure is no protection against a defective swivel chair. He was momentarily dumped from the bench during a trial Monday.

Kingfield was presiding over a condemnation suit when he suddenly sank from view behind the bench.

Spectators rushed to his aid.

"I'm sorry to interrupt you," Kingfield told a lawyer who had been making an opening statement.

"This is the first time this has happened," he said looking at pieces of the chair that had collapsed under him.

The trial resumed after another chair was obtained.

NO DOUBTS

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP)—The senior English students of Mrs. Yantis at Arlington High School were taking a test which required them to fill in blanks. One sentence read. "Victoria married (blank) of (blank)."

The correct answer was "Victoria married Albert of Germany." But one student was so sure of his facts he made it read this way: "Victoria married Albert, of course."

NAIS PRESIDENT FETED—Cary Potter, left, president-elect of the National Association of Independent Schools, was entertained Thursday by the trustees of the Colorado Springs School for Girls. With Potter are Mrs. Clarence Kurtz and Philip Cole, president of the board of trustees of the school located in Broadmoor. NAIS has a membership of more than 700 schools, and functions as a central office of information and inspiration for the development and growth of the independent school. Its headquarters is in Boston, Mass. The local school belongs to the new schools division of NAIS and meets its standards of curriculum and uses the educational records bureau testing service recommended by NAIS. Recent results of this spring test indicate the school is placing well in these highly competitive exams in which all students of independent schools are graded against one another.

Barbara Stanwyck, Bob Taylor Old Film Pros

By BOB THOMAS

Inside on the set of "The Night Walker," everything looked cozy enough. His and her dressing rooms were side by side, his in shades of royal blue and hers in moss green.

Nearby Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Taylor were seated next to each other, engaged in friendly conversation with director William Castle.

"How old were you when you made 'Camille'—30?" Castle inquired of Taylor.

"No, I was 25," the actor replied.

"I was the one who was 30!" said Stanwyck, and all laughed heartily.

That is the tone of things on the set where Bob and Barbara are making their third film together, the first since their 1951 divorce. She has remained single, he married German actress Ursula Thiess.

Their previous co-starrings were "His Brother's Wife" and "This Is My Affair," both before their 1939 marriage. Their reunion has caused a considerable stir in Hollywood, which is not easily stirred. Both refuse to recognize the fuss.

Both rose immediately when the buzzer sounded notice that the camera crew was ready. They hurried to the set and took their positions in a chapel scene.

The scene called for Miss Stanwyck, newly widowed, to express concern to Taylor, the family lawyer, over dreams that seemed close to reality. The rehearsal was letter perfect, but she wasn't satisfied.

"It's too pat," she complained to Castle. "I played it very bad. As a matter of fact, it stunk."

She rehearsed it once more, finally striking the spark of spontaniety she was seeking.

The makeup crew moved in for final touches on the famous pair. Miss Stanwyck's silver hair was coaxed into place. Taylor ran a comb through his locks, still widow's-peaked and luxuriant. The players hit their marks and the scene began.

"Cut — print it!" announced Castle when it was over. He sighed to a bystander, "This is how movies should be made."

The one-take stars sat down for another breather while the crew lit the scene for their closeups.

"I like to work this way," remarked Taylor. "When you think of the waste on some movies today—it's incredible."

After some more talk, the buzzer sounded. Both Taylor and Stanwyck were on their feet immediately. Off they went to the set like a pair of fire horses.

Most-Wanted Man Captured by FBI

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A 42-year-old man who made the FBI's 10 most wanted list only last Thursday has been captured and charged with fleeing Ohio to avoid prosecution.

The man, Edward Newton Nivens, had been working as a furniture mover here for six weeks. He did not resist when arrested Tuesday.

Nivens was charged with robbing a Toledo bartender of $375 on March 1, 1963. When the bartender and a customer tried to chase Nivens, the customer was shot in the stomach, the FBI said.

Nivens, a native of York, S.C., has been convicted of armed robbery, interstate transportation of a stolen car and forgery, the FBI said.

Game Friday Night

All-Stars Watch Skies; Hope to Practice Today

For the first time in five days, the Suburban All-Stars under the direction of Eldon Helm and Russ Lyon were expected to take to the practive field today, weather permitting.

The recent rains have forced the Suburban team indoors, preparing for the first annual Colorado Springs High School All-Star baseball game slated this Friday night at Memorial Field. Game time is set for 7:30.

Helm will pit his 16-player roster composed of seniors from Cheyenne Mountain, Harrison, Air Academy High, Manitou Springs and Widefield against the City-All stars coached by Gib Funk of Wasson and Jerry Hughes of Palmer.

The Suburban team conducted its last outdoors practice session last Friday at the Cheyenne Mountain baseball diamond and Helm reports that the workout was limited to hitting. The Suburban baseballers have only had three sessions outdoors.

Inclement weather has prevented the squad from an entire practice. The Suburban All-Stars initiated their organized practice a week ago Tuesday but cold and rain limited the workout. That was the day the team had an opportunity to take infield practice.

The following workout on Thursday was restricted to hitting and Helm had to call off the session after an hour of batting practice as the rains started again.

In between the outdoor sessions the Suburban All-Stars have been working on their own at their respective gymnasiums with Helm working with his pitching staff. Helm has four pitchers he hopes will carry the Suburban team past the City-All Stars, including Harrison's ace, Danny Gieck; Chuck McGee of Cheyenne; Steve Kohl of Manitou and Carter Dean of Academy High.

Gieck was the leading hurler in the Pikes Peak League last year and even though the Harrison right-hander was plagued with a sore arm the all-around athlete hurled a no-hitter in the Panthers' finale against Manitou.

Obviously, the weather has been a big factor in preparing for the nine-inning game this Friday night an Helm couldn't give an assessment of the team's potential. Helm did say, however, that he felt the team's pitching would be the biggest contributing factor in deciding the outcome of the game.

The Suburban team was scheduled for practice outdoors today at either Memorial Field or the Cheyenne Mountain diamond. Weather permitting, the squad will practice again Thursday for its final workout prior to the game.

The City team has had the same weather problems in trying to prepare for Friday's contest. Night workouts scheduled for the first two days this week were washed out and Funk's squad got in only a brief outdoor session Monday afternoon before the rain interrupted. The players have kept in shape by working indoors, however.

Funk said Tuesday that his team would go into the Friday game without the benefit of a full-scale practice under the lights. Wasson has its graduation ceremonies tonight and Palmer Thursday evening. All but two members of the City squad come from those two schools.

Some thought was given to an idea to postpone the game until additional workouts could be held but the coaches decided against such a plan. The feeling is, that even with the limited practice sessions, the majority of the players would still be sharp enough to turn in a sound performance Friday.

Should the game be rained out Friday, Saturday has been set as an alternate date. A second rainout would probably force the contest to be played the early part of next week.

Adult tickets for the All-Star game may be purchased at Blick's Sporting Goods Store, the business offices at Wasson and Palmer, and through individuals conncted with the game including the players. Student tickets may be purchased at any of the participating high schools.

Dancer To Receive Challenge

NEW YORK (AP)—The list of likely challengers to Northern Dancer in Saturday's $125,000-added Belmont Stakes at Aqueduct has been padded to five with the addition of John Galbreath's Orientalist.

Darby Dan Farm's speedy colt, a son of Swaps, was entered Tuesday for the supplementary fee of $5,000. Orientalist, whose victory in a mile test at Aqueduct last Friday was his first in nine starts this year, joins Hill Rise, Roman Brother, Quadrangle and Shook in the probable field seeking to veto Northern Dancer's Triple Crown bid.

Of the five contenders, however, only Hill Rise is a definite starter in the 1½ mile Belmont.

Braulio Baeza has been engaged to ride Orientalist, regarded as a speed merchant off his previous starts. Jimmy Conway, the colt's trainer, said Tuesday that Northern Dancer "stands out like a lighthouse" in the Belmont field.

"At the same time," Conway added, "he hasn't been a mile and a half yet, so we are taking a shot, like the others."

Dean Chance Ends Angels Loss Streak

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

"All right," said Chance, "I'll pitch an $18,000 season."

But Chance tried to against Boston Tuesday night, turning in one of the top pitching performances of the season, keeping the Red Sox hitless for 5 2-3 innings and finishing with a two-hitter while striking out 15 in a 1-0 Los Angeles victory.

Chance, a 22-year-old right-hander, had a shot at a no-hitter and probably a pay raise until Dick Stuart lined a single to center with two out in the sixth. He also had a shot at the record 18-strikeout mark and probably a pay raise until he ran out of whiffs in the last two innings.

Chance had 13 strikeouts through seven innings, but struck out only one in each of the last two innings and settled for the season's high of 15, an impressive 2.12 earned run average and a 4-2 score. Now he needs only 20 more victories to get his raise.

The 24-victory yardstick was applied by Haney a week ago Tuesday when the Angels called a special press conference and brought up the subject of Chance's contract dispute with the club. At that time, Haney said an $18,000 season figures out to about "24 winning games."

While Chance was showing Haney his stuff, standout pitching efforts also were turned in by:

—Sam McDowell, a $100,000 bonus baby recently recalled from the minors who struck out 14 as Cleveland defeated Chicago 3-2 and knocked the White Sox out of the American League lead.

—Baltimore's Dave McNally who posted his second shutout with a six-hit, 4-0 triumph over Kansas City that lifted the Orioles into first place.

—Gerry Arrigo, who kept eight hits well spaced in Minnesota's 6-2 triumph over the New York Yankees.

Besides Stuart's single, the only other hit off Chance was a single by Felix Mantilla leading off the ninth.

Chance got the only run he needed and the only one of the game in the fourth when Jack Lamabe walked Joe Koppe, Billy Moran singled and Lee Thomas doubled.

McDowell, a 21-year-old left-hander with only eight major league victories since receiving his $10,000 four years ago, now has posted two of the victories since being recalled from minors last Saturday.

Leon Wagner homered in the third inning for the Indians—No. 12 of the season and his fourth in four games—and Cleveland broke a 1-1 tie in the eighth when Max Alvis and Larry Brown hit consecutive homers.

McNally, also a 21-year-old southpaw, had been ineffective in his last three starts but pitched strongly against the A's, who were unable to get a man past second base. McNally now has a 4-3 record.

Softball Season Top Open At Memorial Park Tonight

Rain washed out the opening night's schedule Tuesday as the city's softball season was to get underway. But there was a slight chance that tonight's schedule will go on as planned at field No. 3 and 4 at Memorial Park.

Slated at 7 p.m. will be two Industrial League games with the new team from the Gazette Telegraph meeting the Colorado Springs Silents on field 4 and two other new teams in the league. Phil Long Ford and 425 L, will clash on field 3.

The City League, rated as one of the best in the state among Amateur Softball Association circuits, was to start on Tuesday but those games have been re-scheduled with two of the scheduled for this weekend. That will send the DCA Mets against Benardo's on Friday at 8:15 on field 4, and in the Industrial the Telephone Co. will meet Fire Dept. Saturday at 7 on field 3.

In addition there have been a couple of exhibition games scheduled for this weekend. Saturday night Benardo's will play a team from Lamar and Sunday the same Benardo's nine will take on a squad from Pueblo.

There are two games in the City League slated for Thursday, both on field 3. The early contest will send Ent against the Mets, and at 8:15 Benardo's will tackle Navajo Hogan in the first showdown between two of the season's favorites. This will be the first appearance in league play of these teams, weather permitting. The YMCA-Church League is slated on field 4 at the same time.

The Industrial t League this year has 10 teams, the largest entry list for many seasons, and will play a double round. The City League will play three rounds this summer before the city playoffs in August.

Former Bench-Jockey Rojas Spearheads Phillies Victory

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sniffing a pennant and looking for the big trade that might bring one, the Philadelphia Phillies decided to display some of their excess talent last week in the hopes of drumming some business in the National League market place.

Manager Mauch looked down his bench and there, residing in a quiet corner, was utility infielder Cookie Rojas, a career .221 hitter. With an average like that, you've got to be considered excess. So Mauch tapped Cookie to take over for Tony Taylor at second base for a couple of games.

That was a week ago and Taylor hasn't started a game since. Rojas has 14 hits in 21 at bats since taking over for a .667 batting average. Of course that's much more than his se - son's average which is only .548 on 17 for 31.

Rojas continued his hot streak with two hits against the Los Angeles Dodgers Tuesday night as Philadelphia maintained its National League lead with a 4-3 victory.

Cookie scored the Phillies' first run when he doubled, stole third and came in on Richie Allen's long fly. After Ken McMullen's two-run homer had tied it at 3-3 in the top of the seventh, Rojas opened the Phillie half with a single.

Allen's single and an intentional walk loaded the bases and Cookie trotted home with the winning run when Ron Perranoski walked Wes Covington.

The victory, coupled with San Francisco's 3-1 loss to Pittsburgh, extended the Phillies' league lead to 1½ games. In other NL games, Cincinnati rallied to beat Warren Spahn and Milwaukee 7-5, New York came from behind and whipped Houston 7-4 and Chicago downed St. Louis 5-2.

Rojas' hitting helped Dennis Bennett win his seventh game in 10 decisions. In addition to scoring the first and fourth runs Cookie squeeed John Herrnstein home with a perfect sacrifice bunt in the second inning.

And to rub salt into Los Angeles' wounds, old friend Ed Roebuck hurled the ninth inning and set the Dodgers down 1-2-3.

Spahn was breezing with a 5-1 lead and a five-hitter through seven innings when the Reds suddenly turned the tables. A four-run eighth tied it and then run-scoring hits by Deron Johnson and Frank Robinson won it in the ninth.

The Braves built the big lead early with two-run homers by Gene Oliver and Denis Menke the key blows. Oliver also had a solo homer.

Bob Veale hurled a five-hitter for his second straight victory over the Giants and his fifth win in eight decisions. He struck out nine and walked four.

The Pirates grabbed a quick lead in the second inning when Willie Stargell tripled, Gene Freese doubled and Donn Clendenon singled for two runs. Jim Davenport's fifth inning single delivered the only Giant run.

The Mets trailed 4-2 going into the seventh when three hits, two Colt errors and a pair of hit batters produced five runs and the victory.

New York spotted Houston a 4-0 lead and then got 8 2-3 innings of airtight relief from Bill Wakefield and Frank Lary to win it.

Hot hitting Billy Williams had three hits including his 14th homber and ran his league-leading average to .422 against St. Louis as the Cubs won their sixth in the last seven games.

Ron Santo, Billy Cowan and Jim Schaffer also homered for Chicago and Larry Jackson went the route to beat his ex-teammates.

Missouri's Keith Weber Top Pitcher in Big Eight

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Missouri's Keith Weber edged teammate Denis Musgraves for the Big Eight pitching title and Steve McGreevy of Kansas nipped Dave Harvey of Missouri for the batting championship, final league baseball figures showed today.

Weber's earned run average was an amazing 0.18, as he permitted just one earned run in 50 innings. Musgraves, a sophomore, allowed a scant 0.63, with just three earned runs in 42 1-3 innings.

McGreevy batted .421 and Harvey .418.

Chuck Dobson of Kansas was the strikeout champ, with an average of 12.8 strikeouts per nine-inning game.

Except for McGreevy and Dobson, Missouri swept the team and individual titles. The Tigers led the league in team hitting with .292 and their pitching staff had a combined earned run average of 0.84, less than one run a game.

Kansas batted .285, Iowa Stat .279, Colorado .265, Oklahoma .250, Oklahoma State .206, Nebraska .199 and Kansas State .155. The team ERA finish behind Missouri was Iowa State .255, Oklahoma 2.63, Kansas 3.39, Nebraska 3.86, Colorado 4.31, K-State 5.27 and OSU 5.62.

Colorado led in runs at 133, doubles with 33 and homers with 16.

Twenty regulars batted over .300 in conference play.

Colorado's Don Sessions was the home run champ with five and edged Mike Der Manuel of Kansas for the runs-batted-in title, 19-18. Harvey's .687 slugging percentage led the league, with Mavity next at .631. Other leaders were McGreevy, 32 hits, Mavity nine doubles, and Brown, four triples.

Cardinals Sign College Pitcher

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Dale Meier, right-handed pitcher from Cape Girardeau State College, has signed a St. Louis Cardinals' baseball contract.

Meier, who had a 9-1 record this year and a 1.33 earned run average, will report to the Cardinals' Sarasota, Fla., club in the Rookie League.

Charnley Seeks Title Bout With Ortiz

LONDON (AP)—Dave Charnley, the British conqueror of Kenny Lane, clamored today for a title fight with world lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz. He may get it soon "if the price is right," said the champion.

Charnley, the British lightweight king and seventh-ranking contender, finished strong to gain the referee's decision over Lane, top-ranking contender from Muskegon, Mich., at the indoor Wembley Stadium Tuesday night.

A crowd of 8,000 cheered loudly when referee Andy Smith, the lone official, raised the Briton's arm in triumph. His scorecard was not disclosed. That is customary here. The Associated Press had Lane in front 5-3 in rounds, with two even.

"We are ready, willing and able for a title shot at Ortiz," said Charnley. "I think it will be in London."

Ortiz said in New York he would be happy to defend his crown against the left-handed Briton in London, San Juan, Puerto Rico or New York.

"It will go where I can get the most money," said Ortiz. "If the price is right I'll defend against anybody. We have been negotiating with Jack Solomons, the British promoter for a title fight in London. But money talks and whoever makes the best offer will get it.

"Charnley had to make a good showing against Lane to strengthen his chance for the fight and apparently he did just that.

"I'm glad he won in a good fight because I like to fight the best. I've made four title defenses since I won the title from Joe Brown more than two years ago, and I want to continue to be a fighting champion."

Ortiz outpointed Lane in a title bout at San Juan last April 11.

"Charnley doesn't have the polish to beat Ortiz who is very fast and very sharp," said Lane. "I thought I beat Charnley. I was very surprised when the referee raised his arm."

Sun Devils Advantage Zooms As Playoff Site Switches

Because of the further delay and the change in site for the NCAA District 7 baseball playoff between the Air Force Academy and Arizona State University, it's quite likely that both teams might arrange a re-run of the first game.

Although rained out last Friday and Saturday in the original dates set to start the best-of-three series for a berth in the NCAA finals at Omaha, Monday the visitors from Arizona State won a 6-1 decision behind the screaming fast ball of sophomore Skip Hancock.

Now, with three days rest, Coach Bobby Winkles of the Sun Devils could elect to come back with his ace in the second game. And Connie Sparks of the Air Academy is likely to do the same with his top pitcher, Pete Bracci.

The second game is now set for an evening contest Thursday, on the Sun Devils' regular playing field at Phoenix. The game was scheduled for Monday afternoon and then Tuesday but both dates here in Colorado Springs were rained out.

Not trusting the wet weather any longer, officials of both schools decided Tuesday to move the playoff to Arizona where sunshine is a little more consistent. Arizona State's team left immediately and the Falcons were to fly south at approximately noon today —right after graduation ceremonies at the AFA this morning.

Thursday's game will be the first time this season that the Falcons will have played under lights, which will add to the advantage already held by the No. 1 ranked Sun Devils. In case the AFA springs the upset in that night game, the third and deciding game will be played Friday morning at the same site in Arizona.

In an odd twist to the series, ASU was ruled the home team in their game here on Monday and the AFA will be the home team at Arizona. This was decided by a flip of a coin.

Had the second game been played Tuesday, Arizona was to use second line pitcher Ron Lea (6-1) and the Air Force was to go with senior left-hander Fred Olmsted. There's a chance that they will remain the starters to give Olmsted a shot at the Western Athletic Conference champions and to keep Lea in rotation should the Sun Devils advance to the College World Series, as expected.

In that case, if a third game is necessary it probably would be Bracci and Hancock.

Hancock put on quite a show for the slim crowd that watched Monday's series opener at Memorial Park in the Springs, striking out 15 but giving up eight hits and 10 walks. This wildness kept him in hot water against the Falcons throughout the game as the Air Force stranded no less than 18 runners in a frustrating nine innings.

Walks also paved the way to the ASU victory, however, as the first three that scored were put on with free passes by Bracci. Another came home on a bases loaded hit batter, and two of the six Arizona runs were unearned as the Falcons committed two errors on one play in the Devils' four-run second frame.

The loss in the district playoffs broke a 10-game winning string for the Cadets, who outhit the visitors by an 8-6 margin. But the Air Force hasn't lost two in a row while working their way through a 22-4 season's record so far.

The winner of the series for District 7 honors will advance to the College World Series at Omaha, June 9-12, where they will meet the District 5 victor in the first round. That probably will be the University of Missouri, tied with ASU for the No. 1 spot in the most recent college poll of baseball teams around the nation.

Defending Champion Back In NCAA Baseball Tourney

OMAHA (AP) — Two powerhouses of intercollegiate baseball—Minnesota and Southern California—are back in the college world series of 1964.

USC, four-time winner and defending champion, clipped Oregon 5-0 and 9-3 in the District 8 playoffs to earn its ticket to the NCAA finals in Omaha June 8-12. These wins gave USC 21 victories in the last 22 games.

Minnesota, winner in 1856 and 1960, the only times the Gophers ever made it to the college series, defeated Kent State 7-4 and 13-2 for the District 4 title. This gave Minnesota a 27-11 mark compared with California's 35-9 total for the season.

Minnesota meets Texas A&M, 19-6-1, in the second game of the series at 3 p.m., EST, Monday. USC is paired with Mississippi, 24-5, in the first evening game at 7 p.m.

Seton Hall a first-timer at the intercollegiate finals, will open the series at 12 noon against the winner of the District 1 playoff between Maine and Northeastern.

The winner of the District 5 series between St. Louis and Missouri will meet the winner of the District 7 playoff—Arizona State or Air Force in the first round finale at 8:30 p.m.

The tournament, which drew a record attendance of 52,757 last year, is a double-elimination affair.

Missouri's Big Eight champions and St. Louis U., the Missouri Valley titlist, were to meet again today for the District 5 crown, stalled last week by rain with the first game tied at 1-1.

It is scheduled as a best-of-three series, but district representative Ray Wauthier of Kansas State said in the event of a washout, the winner of the first game will go to the NCAA's College World Series next week.

Wauthier said if the teams split the first two games and the third is rained out, the winner of the first game will go to Omaha.

Keith Weber will pitch for Missouri today and John Marcum is the mount choice for St. Louis. The same hurlers were working in last week's 1-1 tie.

Missouri, with 21 straight victories, takes a 22-3-1 record into the playoffs. St. Louis stands at 16-10-1, having dropped a double header to Southern Illinois U. last Saturday. Missouri is tied with Arizona State U. for first place in the latest college baseball poll.

Santa Claus Wins Richest Epsom Derby

Santa Claus, favored at 15-8, was near the back of the field of 17 runners for most of the 1½ miles of the race. He came from behind and passed Indiana in the last few yards of a thrilling finish.

Mesa Meets Miami-Dade In Finals

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP) — Mesa of Grand Junction whipped Blinn of Brenham, Tex., 3-1 Tuesday night to advance to the finals of the National Junior College Baseball Tournament.

Mesa, beaten once, plays unbeaten Miami-Dade, Fla., in Wednesday night's finals. If Mesa wins the teams will play a second game Thursday.

Blinn was eliminated by the loss and finished in third place after winning earlier Tuesday from Wingate, N.C., 12-3.

NAIA Tourney Begins Today

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Defending champion Pan American and Corpus Christi, a pair of schools from Southern Texas, are favored to duel for team and individual honors in the four-day NAIA Tennis Tournament opening today.

A record total of 84 players from 28 schools have entered the 13th annual NAIA tourney and the list many grow longer today.

Don Kierbow of Corpus Christi is seeded No. 1 in singles. Jerry Wortelboer and Jim Saucedo of Pan American, both natives of Buenos Aires, are seeded No. 1 in doubles.

Kierbow had a 12-3 won-lost record this season. Two of his losses were to the top U.S. amateur, Chuck McKinley, and to Roy Emerson of Australia. He forced both into three sets.

Kierbow's doubles partner will be Gabino Palafox, a brother of Mexico's Davis Cup player. Among three freshmen on the Pan Am team is Larry Riggs of Sacramento, Calif., son of one of the all-time greats of tennis, Bobby Riggs.

Beatie-Wallitsch Bout Set Next Tuesday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Beattie, the towering St. Paul heavyweight, will meet Henry Wallitsch of New York in a return eight-round bout at Sunnyside Garden next Tuesday night. Beattie stopped the New Yorker in the fourth round of a Garden semifinal last March.

Clay, Bassey in Verbal Bout Over Slice in Champ's Visit

By KEN WHITING
Associated Press Writer

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—Cassius Clay is in a big hurry to get to Egypt, but Nigeria isn't giving up its honored guest without a battle.

The globe-trotting heavyweight champion's plan to slice a proposed six-day visit here in half got him into a shouting match Tuesday with Hogan (Kid) Bassey, Nigeria's former world featherweight king.

Cassius led with a series of underhand jabs:

"They got big things lined up for me in Cairo, Egypt. Nasser is gonna see me and its gonna be really big. They lined me up two months ago. They're paying the plane fare and the only plane this week is Wednesday. So, I gotta go."

Then, a haymaker:

"Besides, Cairo, Egypt, is more important than Nigeria."

Bassey, angry because his countrymen had sold thousands of tickets for a boxing exhibition by the champion tonight, waded in:

"Cairo is not more important than Nigeria," snapped the Kid. "We are the biggest country in Africa. You are the champion and you are supposed to keep your promises."

Clay backed off a step:

"Aren't the Egyptians the powerfulest country in Africa, with all their rockets and that big army and that dam?" he asked.

"Never mind that," replied the Nigerian. "You came here first and if you leave now, you'll mess up everything."

That was enough for Muhammed Ali.

"Nobody tells me what to do and when to do it," he roared.

He arranged his new Algerian Agbada robes, a gift from the government, and stalked out in search of a captive audience.

Earlier, Clay told a television interviewer he had come to Africa "to show my brothers and sisters that we are now free," chided other fighters—including Joe Louis—for not coming "because they thought some lions and tigers would get them," and discussed his future plans.

"I might fight that big ugly bear Sonny Liston next year," he said. "And then there's some girl in New York named Patterson who thinks she can beat me. She doesn't know her own mind."

English Tennis Experts Are Optimistic

MANCHESTER England (AP) — English tennis experts looked forward today to what they consider Britain's best chance to capture the Wightman Cup since winning it in 1960.

The reason for the optimism was the disclosure Tuesday that the Americans Wightman team would not add Karen Hantze Susman of San Antonio, Tex., to fill the vacancy created when Darlene Hard of Long Beach, Calif., turned professional. The British rate Mrs. Susman highly.

Mrs. Susman, Wimbledon champion in 1962, recently returned to action after having a baby, but the Americans decided to add Donna Floyd Fales of New York to complete the lineup. Mrs. Fales originally was to be nonplaying captain of the team.

Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., another member of the team, disclosed that she and her teammates had received a letter notifying them that Mrs. Fales would play and that "no one outside of the original four (players named) will come in."

Other American Wightman players will be Carole Caldwell of Santa Monica, Calif., and Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex.

Arkansas Tops Bears In PCL Tilt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansas beat Denver 8-7 in the bottom of the ninth inning Tuesday night and advanced to within a half game of the Pacific Coast League's Eastern Division leader, Oklahoma City, which lost to Seattle 6-2.

Trailing 7-3 in the seventh inning, Arkansas scored two runs in the eighth and then loaded the bases in the ninth. With two out Bill Sorrell singled and cleared the bases for the victory.

Fred Holmes hurled a three-hitter at Seattle as the Rainiers won their fifth straight game. Seattle wrapped up the game in the third, scoring four times to take a 5-0 lead. Oklahoma City got both of its runs in the fourth on Jim Beacuchamp's two-run homer.

In other games, Portland, the Western Division leader, edged Dallas 3-2, San Diego shut out Spokane 3-0 and Hawaii defeated Tacoma 7-5.

Chico Salmon homered in the eighth to break the tie at Portland and give the Beavers the win. The loss was the second for Dallas in the current series.

Trade Talk Growing Daily As Deadline Approaches

NEW YORK (AP)—Dugouts are buzzing with trade talk as the June 15 deadline approaches and both the New York Yankees and Los Angeles Dodgers appear vulnerable.

Bullpen problems prompted the St. Louis Cardinals to deal 37-year-old Lew Burdette to the Chicago Cubs for Glen Hobbie, another veteran right-hander, in a Tuesday deal.

Hank Aguirre may be next to walk the plank at Detroit and could be Dodger-bound if the Tigers could get waivers on the lefty in the American League.

The Minnesota Twins reportedly are interested in Ken McBride, the Los Angeles Angels' pitcher who has been having a tough time winning.

With the Yanks limping along only a few games over the .500 mark, the Twins are convinced they can make a strong move for the pennant if they can come up with some more pitching.

The Phillies are in the market for a right-handed hitting outfielder and reportedly are willing to give up an extra infielder—probably Ruben Amaro—and pitching to land the man they want. With a southpaw-swinging outfield of Johnny Callison, Tony Gonzalez and Wes Covington the Phils are a natural target for left-handed pitching.

Even the Yankees are trade-minded. The relief pitching has been something less than sensational and Yogi Berra is looking for help either from the majors or the Richmond farm. Because of the persistent injuries to Mickey Mantle, the regular line-up remains unsettled.

St. Louis, with an eye either on the distant future or another trade this year, proved willing to gamble with the 28-year-old Hobbie.

Burdette was traded by Milwaukee to St. Louis for Bob Sadowski last June. His combined average in 1963 was 9-13 and he has a 1-0 record this season with a 1.80 earned run average, having worked 10 innings in relief.

Hobbie won 16 in 1959 and 1960 but topped the National League in 1960 with 20 losses. Last year Hobbie had a 7-10 mark and currently is 0-3 with an 8.00 earned run average in eight appearances.

"There's nothing like being a starter," he said, "because I've done both ends of the job."

Burdette's last start was with St. Louis last September when he hurled a 3-2 victory over Milwaukee at a time when the Cardinals were battling for the pennant eventually won by Los Angeles.

Six Former Winners Trying To Qualify for U.S. Open

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Six golfers who have won the U. S. Open champion will be just six familiar names among 473 trying to qualify for the 64th U. S. Open next Monday and Tuesday.

For the record, they are Cary Middlecoff, winner in 1949 and 1956; Tony Manero, who won back in 1936; Lew Worhsam, 1947; Ed Furgol, 1954; Jack Fleck, 1955, and Tommy Bolt, 1958.

The five who have won the Open since Bolt are exempt from sectional qualifying.

Twelve of 13 former PGA champions also must be listed merely as hopefuls, though few are likely to miss qualifying. The 13th is someone different. He is Sam Snead, the man who has won just about everything in golf exept the Open and who still is trying.

Snead has placed in 23 consecutive National Opens. He has finished second four times, once losing a playoff to Worsham, but never has been on top. He has won the game three times and more tournaments than he can remember.

Tuesday, Snead will be struggling against 81 rivals, among them some of the leading pro tourists, for the 39 qualifying places available in the Detroit section. Others include Bolt, Jerry Barber, the 1961 PGA champion; Phil Rodgers, who tied New Zealand's Bob Charles in the British Open last year but lost in a playoff; Labron Harris Jr., the 1962 U. S. Amateur champion, now a pro; and such noted pro tourists as Art Wall, Bob Goalby, Johnny Pott, Doug Sanders and Ken Venturi.

The Detroit and New York sections are the biggest and strongest of the 13 listed today by the U. S. Golf Association. The 36-hole qualifying rounds will be played there and at three other locations on Tuesday. Eight sections will hold their rounds Monday.

The former Open and PGA champions are among 45 who were exempt from local qualifying two weeks ago. They join 428 survivors of the local tests seeking 129 places available in the championship at Washington's Congressional Country Club June 18-20.

Twenty one are exempt from all qualifying and go right into the final 150-man field. They include the five most recent Open winner, Julius Boros, Jack Nicklaus, Gene Littler, Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper; amateur champion Deane Beman and and Charles, the British Open king.

Leading pros in each of the 13 sections will get cash rewards—$300 for first, $200 for second and $100 for third—plus a shot at the jackpot of approximately $90,000 in the main event.

Toe Wiggler Upsets Ladies Bowling Club

LONDON (AP) — A bare toe wiggler is upsetting the ladies of the Finchley Bowling Club.

They complain that every time they go out on the lawn for a bowling match this well dressed chap turns up and acts out the same old routine:

First he takes off his coat, then his tie, his collar, then his shoes and socks. Then he squats on a park bench, smiles. . .and wiggles his bare toes.

"I'm going to write to the borough council and ask them to remove him from the rinkside," said Mrs. Jessie Goldin, a club member. "He puts us off our game. You never know what he might take off next."

Postponed Stock Car Races Set Wednesday

Due to the postponement of last weekend's stock car and midget car races at the Sportsman's Raceway Park, the local oval will conduct the re-scheduled stock car races Wednesday night.

The midget racing program will be conducted in the near future. No definite date has been set because the president of the Rocky Mountain Midget Racing Association attended the Indianapolis "500."

Mike Woolsey, a top contender in the late model class, will compete in Wednesday night's race card. Time trials start at 7:30 p.m., with the races to follow immediately preceding the time trials.

The regular stock car program will be held Saturday night at 7:30 as per usual.

McDowell Gets Last Chance To Make Cleveland Roster

CLEVELAND, (AP) — Sam McDowell, a southpaw whom the Cleveland Indians reportedly paid a $100,000 bonus in 1960, could be getting his last chance to show the money wasn't wasted.

A flop in the American League the last two seasons, the 21-year old hurler has dazzled the Pacific Coast League this year. Included in his 8-0 mark at Portland were a no-hitter, a one-hitter, a two-hitter and a three-hitter. He had five shutouts and 100 strikeouts in 76 innings.

The Tribe recalled him Saturday, and he turned in a creditable relief performance against Washington Sunday. He struck out six in 3 1-3 innings and got credit for the victory.

The Indians can't option McDowell to a farm club again without asking waivers, since all three of his options have been used up. It's unlikely he would be waived by all 19 major league teams.

The 6-foot-5 hurler has shown flashes of brilliance with Cleveland, like the time he beat Washington with a two-hitter. Despite McDowell's wildness, Hoot Evers, Cleveland's farm system director, called him the best young pitching prospect since Herb Score.

McDowell did not look good in spring training this season and started out with Portland. But, Birdie Tebbetts, who was managing the team before he suffered a heart attack shortly before spring training closed, remarked:

"For the first time, the boy seems to realize what's expected of him. He's going about his work like a professional instead of a bewildered kid.

"Most rookies, you know, have three or four minor league seasons behind them before they ever get a shot at the big time. Sam had his forced on him before he was ready physically, mentally or emotionally. But this spring I'm seeing a different McDowell.

"He was just too introspective for his own good. He developed a lot of theories about pitching —some of them half baked. And he did a lot of experimenting when he ought to have been out there concentrating on just firing the ball."

"I'm not trying to be modest when I say I was awfully lucky out there," he said. "I had a great team behind me and everything seemed to go right.

"For one thing, I had a sore shoulder through most of the spring and couldn't throw hard. So, I tried to get by on slow stuff and a lot of curves.

"When I got to Portland my shoulder came around and I just fired away."

McDowell claims to have pitched 40 no-hitters in sandlot and high school ball before he was graduated from high school in Pittsburgh.

In 1960, at 17, he won five and lost six for Lakeland in the class D Florida State League. The following season he jumped to Salt Lake City, in the Pacific Coast League, where he was 13-10. But he was wild, walking 152 men in 175 innings.

He spent most of the 1962 season with the Indians. He was 3-7 for the Tribe that year and had an earned run average of 6.03.

Last year he was 3-5 for Cleveland and 3-6 for the Indians—Jacksonville team in the International League.

Conley Given Release By Indians

BURLINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Gene Conley, who undertook careers in both professional basketball and major league baseball, has been given his unconditional relase by the Cleveland Indians.

The 6-foot-9 pitcher was picked up by Cleveland from the Boston Red Sox. The Indians sent the right-hander to Burlington of the Class A Carolina League to see if he could regain his old form.

The 33-year-old pitcher had a 1-1 record with Burlington. He beat Greensboro 4-3 last Monday with the help of strong relief pitching. Saturday night, he gave up 16 hits as Raleigh beat Burlington 9-2.

Conley played basketball in the National Basketball Association for both the Boston Celtics and the New York Knickerbockers.

BOYER NO. 7 ON THE WAY? — Len Boyer (right), one of the baseball playing Boyer brothers from Alba, Mo., watches pre-game drill with manager Hank Bauer of Baltimore after working out with the Orioles, Monday night. The 18-year-old infielder hopes to sign a major league contract. Two older brothers are third basemen — Ken with the St. Louis Cardinals and Clete with the New York Yankees — and four others are or have been in baseball.

Auto Club to Discuss Gasoline

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)— The U.S. Auto Club officials will meet next week in the midst of a controversy over the use of gasoline as a fuel in race cars.

But they have indicated no "snap decision" are in the works and Speedway chief Stewart Harlan Fenger hinted it may be some time before a decision either way is made.

The dispute broke out after veteran driver Eddie Sachs, Detroit, and rookie pilot Dave MacDonald, El Monte, Calif., were killed in a second-lap tangle of cars which erupted in flames, trapping them.

Owners and drivers said the fact both cars were carrying high octane gasoline in side tanks was a factor in the deaths. Most of the conventional front-engined roadsters use exotic alcohol mixtures.

The Speedway "500" classic was won by A. J. Foyt in a conventional roadster. The cars involved in the crash were rear-engined machines powered by Ford engines. Second place finisher Rodger Ward, Indianapolis, drove a similar rear-engined car but carried the mixture instead of gasoline.

Racing officials said it is a "known fact that gasoline is more combustile than alcohol."

But Fenger said, "we need more information than we have now. We have had fires here before."

Henry Banks, USAC's director of competition and a former national driving champion, noted that both fuels will "burn readily if they are subject to flame or impact."

Banks said the USAC rules committee will meet next Tuesday to study the fuel problem and also to study weight limit restrictions.

Another Boyer May Sign, Or Play College Ball First

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Lon Boyer, the seventh and last of baseball's Boyer brothers, says "I think I can make the majors in two or three years, then go to college in the winter."

The blonde 18-year-old infielder graduated from Alba, Mo., High School May 12. Since then, he has worked out with the Cardinals in St. Louis and with the A's, New York Yankees and Baltimore Orioles in Kansas City, hoping to get a pro contract.

Sixteen major league scouts watched him in a recent high school game. Ken Boyer of St. Louis is regarded as one of the game's top third basemen. He's a .300 hitter with power, an outstanding fielder with a great arm.

Clete Boyer is considered Ken's fielding equal at the same position with the Yankees, is a .250 hitter but hits long ball and is dangerous in the clutch.

Most baseball people think Len will sign with either the Yanks or Cardinals but Len himself isn't talking.

"Clete wants me to go to college first," Len said, "but I want to play pro ball first."

Len is 6-foot-2, 175 pounds and moves like the Boyer brothers. He also played basketball, the only other sport available at Alba, enrollment 76 students. He was the team's top scorer and rebounder.

Alba is in southwest Missouri near Joplin, in the Ozark country.

The consensus of the scouts attempting to sign the youngest Boyer is that he'll make the majors if he can hit.

He has the arm, the speed and fielding range needed for the big leagues. His high school batting average this spring was .310.

The first four Boyer boys signed with the Cardinals. Cloyd was the first to reach the majors in 1949 as a pitcher. He's now the minor league pitching tutor for the Yankees. Wayne was next, then Ken and Lynn—now a high school coach at Walker, Mo.

Len said all six before him signed at the age of 18. Lynn and Wayne later attended college.

The Yankees got No. 5, Clete, in a trade after he signed with the A's, then signed Ron, now a third baseman for the New York farm club at Shelby, N.C.

The big leagues have had many brother combinations, led perhaps by the DiMaggios—Joe, Dom and Vince. Should Ron and Len make the grade, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Boyer would have an unprecedented five sons in the major league record books.

Mays Made Captain After Winning Fandom

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Herman Franks, the big, blunt San Francisco Giants' coach, strode into Manager Alvin Dark's office, unceremoniously plopped himself into a chair and blurted:

"Go get him," snapped Dark.

In less time than it takes to tell, Willie Mays was elevated to the captaincy of the Giants, the first Negro to hold such a position in baseball.

An impulsive action? Not in the least.

"I've thought about this for two years," Dark explained during the Giants' visit to New York over the weekend. "I was just waiting for the opportune time. This appeared to be it.

"Maybe I needed a little push. Herman's suggestion may have provided the impetus I needed.

"Mays has been ready for the job for at least two yearsbut "Mays has been ready for the job for at least two years but I had to wait until baseball was ready for him. Also the San Francisco fans."

It took San Franccisco fans a long time to take Willie to their hearts. Maybe they expected too much. They thought they were getting a living legend when the Giants moved across the land from New York and they were disappointed when Willie, as wondrous as he was, turned out to be a mere mortal.

"The fans needed to be educated," said Dark. "I tried for two years, through a daily radio show, to impress upon them that they had the most remarkable all-around player in baseball. But in the end, it was Willie himself, by his greatness on and off the field, who sold himself to the San Francisco fans."

Mays' great ability and his popularity with fans throughout the nation were the least consideration which prompted Dark to name him captain.

"I appointed him captain," said Dark, "because he can do so much to help the other players. They respect him and confide in him.

"Willie has always been willing to help the other players but he hesitated to offer advice unless asked. Now he doesn't have to hesitate."

How did Mays accept his appointment?

"With the same seriousness and humility that so characterizes Willie," said Dark. "He regards it as a tremendous responsibility and he's already shown he intends to give it the same 100 per cent concentration he gives to work as a player.

"Willie has already helped with little suggestions not only to some of the players but the manager as well."

A's Sign Prep Star Hurler

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City A's have signed Johnny Lee Odum, a 19-year-old fireball high school pitcher at Macon, Ga., for a $75,000 bonus.

Odum was sought by 19 major league clubs. He won 42 and lost two in his career with Ballard Hudson High School in Macon, with eight no-hit games. The team won the state title the past two years. In the state title game this spring he struck out 19 of 21 batters in a no-hitter.

He is a 6-foot, 175-pound Negro with a fast ball, curve and good control. Odum was signed shortly after high school graduation ceremonies Monday night.

He will report to the A's in Kansas City Thursday, work out under Manager Ed Lopat's supervision a few days, then make his pro debut pitching for Birmingham against Macon in a Southern League game at Macon June 11.

How to Build a Fence

- Here are a few tips on fence construction. Before you build, however, make sure the fence will be on your property—clarifying this with your neighbors and checking local laws and ordinances.

SETTING POSTS: Stake out the fence location with mason's twine or fish line about a foot above ground, and mark post locations. Dig holes with an auger or clam-shell digger. Spacing to corner post may be slightly less than line post spacing—permitting rails to extend across the post rather than meeting at the center.

Check the right angle of your fence corners by measuring 3' from the corner along one string, and 4' along the other. The distance between the two points will be 5' if the angle is true.

Embed posts 2' in ground with gravel base for drainage. Tamp soil and brace posts temporarily. Use a carpenter's level to make sure posts are vertical. Nail 2x4 crossbars about 14" long to underground part of corner and gate posts for extra strength.

NAILING: Use 20d nails for nailing 2x4's to posts, 6d nails to fasten 1" or picket boards. Drive nails at least 1" from end of board to prevent splitting. Use nails that won't stain paint surfaces.

FINISHING: Apply ripme coat before assembling fence. Paint fence to match one of the colors of the home. If stain is used, penetrating stains that soak in and leave no brittle surfaces are most easily maintained.

GATES: Gates should harmonize with the fence design. Make them strong but not heavy. Use extra sturdy hinges and latches just in case the "little people" in your neighborhood like to swing.

Strawberry Is Popular Garden Fruit

Strawberries are probably the number one fruit crop in many Colorado home gardens, but above average berries require considerable care and management, according to C. M. (Chuck) Drage, Colorado State University extension horticulturist.

Planting adapted varieties is the first step in reaping "fruitful" results, Drage continues. Plants that produce a lot of foliage (like those grown in the nation's northwestern commercial strawberry areas) are not well adapted to Colorado's low humidity and drying wind conditions.

Best varieties for Colorado have resulted from the USDA strawberry breeding program at the Cheyenne Horticultural station. Over the last 25 years plant scientists at the station have been crossing, re-crossing and selecting new strawberry varieties. Parent plants in the breeding program have included various good commercial varieties and the Rocky Mountain native strawberry, the extension horticulturist explains.

Selections that have been introduced are relatively small foliaged plants. They are perfectly hardy and do not require winter covering. The yield is good and the fruit carries some of the delicious flavor of the native berry, Drage continues. Some of the recommended varieties include Ogallala, Radiance and Arapahoe.

One of the big problems many Colorado gardeners face each year is fruit that dries up on the bush and fails to develop or ripen, the horticulturist explains. The strawberry inherently has a weak root system and any undesirable environmental condition will result in some kind of trouble.

In addition, strawberries usually start to produce in late June and this frequently coincides with periods of hot weather. If we have had a good bloom and a heavy set of fruit and enter a period of hot weather, the plant cannot pump water fast enough to develop all the fruit that sets, Drage states. The result is small, dry, button-like fruit.

Adding more water, however, may not help and can even aggravate the situation by reducing the plant's oxygen supply. We must assume that the soil is receiving sufficient moisture and consider some other production factors.

For example, winter drought or disease may have injured the crown and roots. Common strawberry diseases include root rot and red stele. Any of these factors can retard the movement of water from the roots to the leaves and cause improper fruit development.

If the soil is well fertilized in the fall, it is doubtful the plants will need addtional fertilization during the growing season, Drage continues. Limited amounts of a complete fertilizer, high in phosphate, might give some response. However, do not use a lawn type fertilizer, the horticulturist warns. The high nitrogen composition of lawn type fertilizers results in high foliage production and a poor fruit set.

Wayne Aspinall, Gov. Love To Address State Cattlemen

Congressman Wayne N. Aspinall of Palisade, and Gov. John A Love are among the outstanding national and state leaders who will share speaking honors at the 97th annual convention of the Colorado Cattlemen's Association when it convenes in Pueblo, June 10-11-12.

Wiliam Dunn of Pueblo, general chairman, convention committee, and David Rice, executive vice president of the statewide cattlemen's organization, announced jointly this week that both Congressman Aspinall and Gov. Love had accepted the speaking engagements.

According to state CCA officials, this will be the first convention at which Aspinall and Love have both appeared. However, Gov. Love has been represented at previous conventions by his administrative assistant Howard Propst, who is also scheduled to appear on the CCA speakers platform.

This will be the first meeting with Congressman Aspinall by many of his constituents since re-organization and re-districting of the state's congressional district. Aspinall is expected to discuss the curret situation of public land uses, a major concern to Colorado cattlemen.

Among the business leaders headlining the speakers portion of the convention program is Dr. Kenneth McFarland, education director, American Trucking Associations, Inc., who is sponsored by the association through the cooperation of the Colorado Motor Carriers' Association; and Dr. Frank Court, pastor for the Denver Trinity Methodist Church, and a member of General Motor's speaking staff. Both Dr. McFarland and Dr. Court are well known to Colorado residents due to their numerous appearances as speakers before Colorado business and civic leaders.

The opening day of the convention will feature a panel discussion on "The Current Problems of the Nation's Cattlemen." Jack Bain, first vice president of the state association and chairman of the CCA's marketing committee, will moderate the discussion by four nationally known men in their respective fields: Raymond Doll, vice president and senior economist, Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City; John O'Dea, vice president and general manager of the Denver Union Stock Yards Company, who has directed exhaustive studies in all phases of the marketing aspects of the cattle industry; C. G. Bowes, president, C. G. Bowes, Inc., merchandising consultant, and a former director of the meat division of the National Association of Retail Grocers; and John Guthrie, of Porterville, California, who will represent the American National Cattlemen's Association, of which he is first vice president. Guthrie is also president of the California Cattle Feeders Assn., and operates a 1,000 plus range-herd operation.

CCA President Bob Johnston, Jr., will moderate two panels pertaining to CCA Standing Committee's past and future activities. It is expected that these two sessions will feature the vital aspects of the industry since direction of the Colorado Cattlemen's Association will depend upon the feelings of members given during discussions of issues and projects.

The growing incidence of Vibriosis in Colorado, and what the SCU Vibriosis research project is learning about the disease will be discussed by Dr. A. B. Hoerlein, director of the project.

The Federal Lands Meeting will feature such authorities as Basil Crane, deputy regional forester; George Burnett, chief, Range Division, U. S. Forest Service; Lowell Puckett, Colorado State Director, B. L. M.; Leonard Horn, Colorado Cattle Representative, National Advisory Board Council; Richard Eckles, co-ordinator, natural resources, state of Colorado, and Lyle Liggett, director of public relations, American National Cattlemen's Association.

Earl Brown, Colorado Brand Commissioner, will discuss "Financing the Brand Board," a situation which is of vital concern to Colorado cattlemen at this time.

Horticultural Art Society to Hold Garden Tours

The gardens of Dr. Ralph Adams in Cragmor and Dr. Phillip Loomis in town will be open to the public starting at 11 a.m. The tours will close at 5 p.m.

The hybrid iris are the aristocrats of their species and usually bloom a week or two later than the garden variety.

Officials of the society said the only thing that may interfere with the tour is a hail storm which could damage the special plants.

The Adams garden is located north of town in Cragmor at 3927 Linden Circle.

Dr. Loomis has two gardens which will be open to the public Sunday. One is at his home at 1414 N. Culebra and the other is an experimental garden at the foot of the Mesa at 1330 N. Walnut St.

Widefield Riders Plan Gymkhana Sunday, June 14

The Widefield Riders, Inc., will hold a Central Colorado Horseman's Association approved gymkhana on Sunday, June 14. The gymkhana will be held at the club grounds on Bradley Road near Security.

There will be four age divisions: age 1 through 10; 11 through 13; 14 through 17; and ages 18 and over with 4 place ribbons for each event and trophies awarded to the high point winners in each division.

All events are approved for C.C.H.A. points. The events include: western horsemanship, western pleasure, reining, barrel race, western pole bending, stake race, keyhole, 75 yard and back, boot race and rescue race.

Horse show events start at 9:30 a.m., gymkhana events are to begin at 1 p.m. Lunch will be served at the refreshment stand on the grounds. Admission to the gymkhana will be 50 cents per car. Entry fees will be 25 cents per event for ages 1 through 10; 50 cents per event for ages 11 and over.

U. S. Will Need More Beef Than Ever Before by '75

A long-range analysis of the American beef industry suggests the nation will need 50 per cent more beef by 1975, states Colorado State University Extension Farm Management Specialist Ken Jameson.

"This observation is not meant to imply immediate relief of current beef production problems or a short term antidote for depressed beef prices. Rather, it is a scientific appraisal of the nation's future beef needs," Jameson explains.

One of the major causes of the increased beef demand will be the need to feed more Americans. Our population is expected to expand from the present 190 million people to 226 million by 1975. In addition, per capita income, important in maintaining high level beef consumption, is expected to increase by one-fourth in the next 11 years.

The age distribution of the nation's population will also change between now and 1975. As our present large group of young families reach the middle age mark, the demand for different cuts of beef will change, the farm management specialist continues.

We should see a large increase in the consumption of steaks and roasts. These cuts, usually preferred by middle aged individuals, come predominately from fed beef cattle. Additional increases in the younger segment of our society will also expand the hamburger market.

Another expected trend in the beef industry during the next 11 years is an increase in the proportion of cattle on feed to total cattle inventories, Jameson states. In 1950, 40 per cent of all beef cattle were sold as finished beef. By 1962, this figure had advanced to 55 per cent. . .and by 1975, the number on feed is expected to increase to 75 per cent of our total beef cattle inventories.

In our present beef marketing system, specialized markets have developed. There is little indication this will change much in the future. Any change that does take place will probably result in increased specialization, according to the farm management specialist.

The most successful cattlemen during the next decade will be those using good management techniques and detailed cost records, Jameson believes. "A businessman on Main Street knows his costs of production and plans his business operations accordingly.

"More often than not, a cattle producer of feeder's investment is larger than the businessman's. Therefore, operators with a good idea of what it will take to produce a pound of beef will be at a considerable advantage as the nation's beef industry continues to change," Jameson concludes.

Red Roses Did Not Help in Divorce Case

LONDON (AP)—Twelve minutes before Edward Wakefield was divorced for cruelty, he had 24 red roses delivered to his wife in court.

"I took the roses to court as a sad little gesture, I'm afraid," said Wakefield, 27. "I didn't hand them to my wife personally because I felt it might upset her."

Wakefield is the son of Sir Edward Wakefield, a former high commissioner in Malta. He did not defend the case.

BY GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE S-481: Marvin G., aged 16, is a slender high schooler.

"Dr. Crane," he asked, "could you help me persuade my mother to let me engage in track?

"But my mother objects. She thinks I might develop an 'athlete's heart' or something that would shorten my life.

"Isn't track a good way to become strong and healthy?"

SPORTS FACTS

If a boy like Marvin obtains a medical examination which shows that he is in good physical condition, then he should become better equipped for long life by participation in sports.

This means, of course, that he must condition himself by gradual degrees.

* * *

But if he gradually acclimates himself to his sports event, he will develop a stronger heart.

For regular exercise not only enlarges your biceps and leg muscles, but it also increases the size of your heart, for the heart is muscle, too.

A person with a well developed heart and greater lung capacity, will thus benefit in several ways.

First, his heart will beat more clowly. Instead of having a pulse of 72 beats per minute, the trained mile runner may have a nuormal pulse of only 66 or 68 beats per minute.

Compare them to dollars in your bank account.

When you use up the last ones, your cardiac bank account is thus wiped out and you die.

But if your heart beats more slowly, you salvage those extra heart beats for longer life.

For example, suppose an athlete's heart beats only 70 times per minute instead of 72. His heart thus will save 120 beats per hour or 2,800 beats every full day.

But there is another very valuable result of having a bigger heart.

The two coronary arteries that nourish the heart muscle, will also be larger.

Thus, a tiny floating clot that might plug a smaller coronary artery, will flow farther down the coronary in the larger heart and thus not be as likely to cause death from a heart attack.

Parents, encourage your children to romp and play and run, for this is medically wholesome, unless they have some heart ailment at the outset that your physician feels will preclude such heavy exercise.

BABY GOES TO COLLEGE

The baby attends Lesley College with her mother, Mrs. Donald Lewis Jr., 22, who refused to leave Sandra with a babysitter. The baby sleeps most of the time in a car bed in a nearby cloakroom while mother attends classes.

Oklahoma City Votes For Integration Rule

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla (AP)—The state's first public accommodations ordinance was passed Tuesday by the Oklahoma City Council which made it effective in 30 days.

Negro leaders in Oklahoma announced demonstrations will be held here in an effort to get the 1965 state legislature to pass a statewide public accommodations law.

The new Oklahoma City ordinance forbids public businesses from refusing their services or facilities to persons because of race, religion, color, creed, ancestry or national origin. A committee was created to hear complaints and seek to resolve differences.

Municipal court fines for violations of the ordinance were set at $20, including costs, for each offense.

25th Division Wins Badminton Tourney

Air Defense Command's 25th Air Division carted away all the honors in the 1964 badminton tournament held at the Colorado Springs YMCA.

1st Lt. Bobby Remington, 1963 USAF singles champ, lived up to his press notices in a sweep of the tourney's singles division. Remington's teammates, 1st Lts. Carey Gordon and Guy Gleason won the doubles competition.

In the singles finals, Remington handily defeated Gleason 15-1, 15-8, 15-3, in a best three out of five series. In earlier action, the badminton ace scored wins over Lt. Col. Ralph Heatley, 29th Air Div., 1st Lt. Charles Coane, 28th Air Div. and Gleason without the loss of a single set.

Gleason, who will join Remington as ADC representatives in the USAF tournament, teamed with Gordon to defeat the 29th Air Div. tandem of Heatley and Airman 1.C. Larry Swanson 15-3, 15-7, 15-7 for the doubles crown.

Highest finish for any representatives of the host Ent Air Force Base team was third place in the doubles chalked up by the duo of Col. Francis Newcomer and Lt. Col. Milton Haskin. The Ent players made it to the semi-finals before being eliminated by Heatley and Swanson 15-11, 15-9, in a real stemwinder.

Capt. Hugh Phillips was the only Entite who qualified for the final day of singles play. Phillips was eliminated in the 16th match by the 29th Air Division's Swanson 15-9, 15-6. There was a total of 23 singles matches run off before Remington put away the top berth.

Trophies were presented to the winners May 28 by Col. Howard H. Cloud Jr., Ent AFB commander. The badminton tourney and awards presentation were held simultaneously with the ADC bowling tournament whic hwas run off at Ent Lanes.

IN THE BANK

CLERMONT, Fla. (AP) — Some people like to put money in the bank, but Charles A. Schultz would rather use his money to purchase banks. He is now the possessor of more than 200 coin banks in which he has collected since childhood. Now 72 years old and retired, he began his collection when he discovered pin-up calendars in the garage where he worked as a mechanic. He would have none of it and began displaying antiques in his garage. This eventually led to his showing the banks in his growing collection.

No Plan Shown Yet to Enlarge Fight in Laos

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top diplomatic and military advisers were flying back from Hawaii today to report to President Johnson on recommendations for possible new U.S. military moves in Red-threatened Southeast Asia.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara were expected to meet with the President on their return from two days of policy conferences in Honolulu.

U.S. officials indicated Tuesday night in Honolulu that military action might be taken against Communist North Viet Nam if it and Red China continue backing rebellions in South Viet Nam and Laos. But they said Rusk and McNamara so far have not proposed plans "to enlarge the war to the north" in Viet Nam or to send troops into Thailand.

As the Honolulu session ended newsmen there were told no change was planned in the role of U.S. forces in South Viet Nam—a role which has been described as advisory and training rather than front-line combat.

Actual decisions on what is to be done in the trouble area are up to Johnson.

Administration informants said they rather doubted that Rusk and McNamara would press for any particular combination of actions. These officials thought they would lay alternative possibilities before the President together with assessments of the probable results which might be obtained according to what the President chose to do.

Johnson was represented as being determined to do whatever is necessary to secure "the future of Southeast Asia as a whole"—a phrase he used at his news conference Tuesday.

At the same time he was reported anxious to avoid any unnecessary risks or troop commitments. This suggested that what he is looking for at this stage is some use of U.S. power in the area to demonstrate to the Communists that he is determined to meet any challenge they present in order to protect non-Communist regions and at the same time to stabilize peace in Southeast Asia.

Johnson stressed the peace theme in a statement to his news conference saying at one point, "It is others who make war and we who seek peace."

The atmosphere of urgency which enveloped the Laos and Vietnamese problems last week as the Communists pressed an offensive in Loas abated with evidence that the Red drive has come to a halt. But no one in Washington knew whether this was only a temporary lull.

On another aspect of the Southeast Asian crisis Johnson announced that he has instructed Undersecretary of State George W. Ball to confer with French President Charles de Gaulle on Friday in Paris.

It was learned that Southeast Asian problems over which Johnson and De Gaulle disagree will be the chief subject of the meeting as far as Ball is concerned. Johnson presumably hopes to get some closer support from De Gaulle for a tougher line on the military side of the Southeast Asian crisis.

25 Persons Injured In Subway Accident

NEW YORK (AP)—A Coney Island-bound subway passenger train crashed into the rear of a standing work train and derailed it in a Brooklyn tunnel today. Police said 25 persons claimed injuries.

All were taken to hospitals. Some were admitted. None was reported seriously hurt.

The motorman, listed by police as Carlton Edwards, 33, of St. Albans, Queens, was taken to Methodist Hospital, Brooklyn with leg injuries.

The crash occurred at 4:30 a.m. on the D line of the IND subway division near the 15th Street station at Prospect Park West.

The passenger train and the work train each had four cars. The Transit Authority said it believed that none of the work crew was injured.

The exporting of tulip bulbs from Holland is a $25 million-a-year business, involving 8,000 growers, 800 exporters and 24,000 workers.

8 Traffic Cases Heard in McShane's Court

Eight traffic violators were fined in Justice of the Peace H. C. McShane's court Tuesday.

Clyde Edward Walker, 29, Canon City, was charged with disregarding a red signal light on U.S. Highway 24 Saturday and being without a valid operator's license. The state patrolman was Ken Shiflet and a $15 fine and costs was imposed.

State Patrolman C. W. Hubbard gave a ticket to Karen Sue Belveal, 18, Route 1, Fountain for careless driving. The violation happened on Colorado Highway 27, May 27, and the defendant was fined $15 and costs.

Being without an inspection sticker when driving on East La Salle Street Monday cost Willard Dane Hartzler, 17, 2406 E. Willamette St., $10 and costs. H. W. Fryer of the police was the officer.

Lois Victoria Michopoulos, 39, 809 Orion Dr., was ticketed by State Patrolman C. W. Hubbard Monday on Southgate Road for not complying with the inspection law and being without a valid operator's license. She paid a $15 fine and costs.

Police officer D. L. Watts cited George Ray Milan, 16, 2408 N. Royer St., for having no operator's license. Milan, who was fined $6 and costs, received the summons Tuesday on Union Boulevard.

Jesse E. Brown, 22, Ent, was fined $10 and costs for having no inspection sticker. The violation happened on East Pikes Peak Avenue Monday and the officer was H. W. Fryer of the police department.

Victor Patrick Donegan, 27, Pueblo, was charged with careless driving on South Tejon Street May 11 and fined $10 and costs. C. W. Hubbard of the state patrol was the officer.

State Patrolman Dan Morrissey gave a ticket to Thomas E. worth McKnight, 22, Peterson Field, for failing to drive in a single lane. The violation happened May 23 on Nevada Avenue and McKnight was fined $6 and costs.

Recreation Deadlines to Close Thursday

Registrations for summer activities in music instruction, tennis classes, and dramatics will close after Thursday, according to the City Park and Recreation Department. Participants may sign up at department headquarters, 1400 N. Glenn Ave.

These programs are designed for boys and girls who are looking for recreational outlets during the summer months. There are registration fees involved to cover the instruction and materials used by the students while taking part in these programs.

Instrumental Music will operate for a period of six weeks at Palmer High School. Children will receive about one hour and 20 minutes of instruction daily. Gus Jackson will be music director for this program which is sponsored by the recreation division and School District 11. Tution for the six weeks is $10.

A program in dramatics is being offered this summer at the Horace Mann Junior High Auditorium. Children in grades 3-6 will participate in Creatvie Dramatics. Students in grades 7-12 will take part in a Theater Workshop program. These classes will be in the morning from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Registration is $10 per student.

Tennis classes will be conducted in Monument Valley Park and at Wasson High School. These classes operate on a three week basis and the children will be divided according to ability.

Cost of instrution is $2 for

Cost of instruction is $2 for residents. There is also a class for adults at Monument Valley Park. Registrations must be made at the Park and Recreation Department.

For further information pertaining to any one of these activities, contact the Park and Recreation Department.

Vandals Damage GT Security Paper Rack

Vandals caused $35 damage to a new Gazette Telegraph paper rack which had been placed in front of Simms Super Market, 350 Main St., Security, the sheriff's office said Tuesday.

According to Deputy Sheriff Harry Orvis, the coin box had been forced and 50 cents taken.

HAIR-RAISING STORY

PORT WASHINGTON, N. Y. (AP) — When Tracy Ann Reubens was 14 years old she wanted to get her hair cut. Her father, who liked her long, dark hair the way it was, promised that if she would let it grow until she was 18, he would pay her for it by the inch. They settled on a rate of $7.50 per inch. At Tracy's recent 18th birthday, father Beryl Reubens came through with $165, payment in full for a full 22 inches of hair.

Monument Group Culminate Meeting Series

A regular meeting by the town of Monument culminated a series of special meetings held throughout May. Named as building inspector was Ed Brown. Mrs. Shirley A. Mumm was appointed new town clerk.

Projects for the coming year include: an extended program of clean-up and maintenance of the Monument Cemetery, restoration of city park, street repairs and painting of municipal buildings.

Two resolutions were passed at the Monday meeting. One prohibits livestock in the city limit, without a revocable permit. The second is a weed ordinance which requires clean-up of vacant lots at least once a year.

American Stock Exchange

NEW YORK (AP)—Following is a complete list of stock and bond transactions today on the American Stock Exchange with 3:00 p.m. prices.

Wall Street Report

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market staged a technical snapback early this afternoon in light trading.

Gains of key stocks numbered losers and ran from fractions to about a point.

The list met support near a level from which it rebounded in late April. After two days of decline, traders picked up stock at relatively cheap prices.

Conspicuous on the upside were airlines, which have been under severe long-term profit taking.

Some of the higher-priced, more volatile issues in the office equipment or photography gained 2 to 5 points.

The trend was slightly higher among rails, motors, tobaccos, chemicals, retails, electronics and aerospace issues.

Xerox rose 5, Polaroid 3, Control Data more than 2.

New Attacks On Cuban Coast Hinted

MAMI, Fla. (AP) — Anti-Castro forces backed by the United States have been attacking Cuban coastal cities, causing great damage and loss of life, the Cuban Red Cross says.

The statement was broadcast Tuesday by the Cuban radio, monitored here. It was one of the few acknowledgements by Fidel Castro's government that attacks have occurred. It has announced the execution of seven "CIA" agents in the past week.

"It might be one year or three years," the head of the Revolutionary Recovery Movement said in a statement his office delivered to the Miami Herald. Artime's whereabouts remain secret.

Roy Matthews Is Osteopathic Staff Member

Dr. Roy C. Mathews, osteopathic physician recently located in Woodland Park, has been elected to the staff of the Mamie Doud Eisenhower Osteopathic Hospital, according to Mr. L. L. Copeland, administrator. Dr. and Mrs. Mathews and their year old son are living in their newly purchased home in the mountain community. He is qualified for general practice and obstetrics.

He has plans for a new and well equipped office building which he hopes to construct tin the not too distant future.

Dr. and Mrs. Mathews have been living in Wolfe City, Tex., where he has conducted a general and obstetric practice the past three years.

He is a graduate of the Kansas City College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons. He served his internship at Stevens Park Osteopathic Hospital in Dallas.

Cool June Spell Continues in Northern U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Early June's spell of cool weather continued today across much of the northern half of the nation but temperatures were near seasonal marks in most of the southern and western sections.

The mercury again edged to freezing in some northern Midwest areas, with unseasonable temperatures in most of the northeast third of the nation.

Showers also were reported in Southeast Florida, the central and northern Rockies, the central Plateau and the coastal areas of Virginia. Amounts of rain were light in most sections.

Drifting Snow Closes Peak Above Cove

Tuesday afternoon, when it was believed the road could be opened to the 14,000-foot summit, drifting snow filled in the highway almost as fast as snow-clearing equipment could remove it. Crews got within three miles of the summit Tuesday.

Sullivan said there would have been no problem clearing the highway had it not been for the wind which often blows hard above timberline even when there is no breeze to speak of at lower elevations.

The storm which started last week has dumped up to two feet of snow on the famous mountain from Glen Cove to the top.

The highway had to be closed Memorial Day.

There were 220 such sightseers Tuesday, some of whom had never had a real look at snow before.

Sullivan said every effort is being made to clear the route to the summit, with drifting snow and perhaps more of it being the determining factors.

Jaycees Launch Search for Soap Box Queen

The Jaycees launched a search Tuesday, for the 1964 Soap Box Derby Queen, with the announcement of contestant qualifications, and the grand prize, to be awarded after the annual derby event.

To qualify as a contestant, girls from 11 to 15 years of age may register at the Junior Chamber of Commerce office at 112½ E. Pikes Peak Ave. Entrants will be required to submit a short essay on "Your Ambitions for the Future, and Why." Registration deadline is June 15.

Five semi-finalists will be picked from the total number of qualified contestants registered, on the basis of sincerity, composition, and penmanship.

A judges panel comprised of boys entered to participate in the soap box derby, will select the Soap Box Derby Queen from the five previously selected finalists, according to Ron Crow, Derby Queen contest chairman.

Included in the prizes to be presented to the Derby Queen will be a $30 sports wardrobe.

Springs Water Tests Okay Last Month

Technicians in the lab said 545 portions were tested and all found to be satisfactory.

This has been the case with Colorado Springs water in all but two months of the modern history of the city water department.

Injured Denver Youth Reported In Fair Shape

Clifford Choury, 18, of Denver who was critically injured Tuesday morning in an automobile accident that took the life of a Denver woman was reported to be in "fair" condition this morning at Penrose Hospital. Hospital spokesmen said Choury was still in intensive care.

Choury was a passenger in a car that smashed into a bridge three miles north of here on the freeway. Josephine Urives Limon, 45, was killed in the wreck. Mrs. Limon's son, Richard Limon, 21, also of Denver, was released from Penrose Tuesday night. Limon, the driver, suffered cuts in the accident.

King Merritt Offices Moved

King Merritt and Co., mutual fund investments, has moved from 2804 W. Colorado Ave. to 18 E. Monument St.

King Merritt's office here is headed by Dale A. Weaver of Divide, who said today he plans to expand the setup by adding salesmen.

Weaver has a bachelor of arts degree from Goshen College, Goshen, Ind., and was in Korea nine years as director of relief activities and representative of King Merritt. He returned to Colorado in October, 1963, to become busienss manager of the Rocky Mountain Mennonite Camp and Frontier Boys Camp.

Weaver is a member of Bethel Mennonite Church and the West Side Rotary Club.

Boy's Condition Satisfactory; Bike Struck Car

A 13-year old boy was in satisfactory condition at St. Francis Hospital this morning with injuries he suffered Monday evening when his bicycle collided with a car at the intersection of Pikes Peak Avenue and Prospect Street.

Leo Alva Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen A. Moore, 215 N. Chestnut St., sustained a broken collar bone, a contusion of the left lung and abrasions.

Police said the boy was riding west on Pikes Peak and the car, driven by Almeta Williams, 53, of 817 E. Las Animas St., was going north on Prospect at the time of the collision.

The Williams woman was ticketed for careless driving and not having an operator's license.

Riggs Funeral Rites To Be Held Thursday

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. Thursday in the Swan Funeral Home for Mrs. Elizabeth Belle Riggs who died Monday at a local hospital at the age of 84. Mrs. Riggs formerly resided at 1907 W. Cucharras St.

The Rev. Dr. Ben F. Lehmberg will officiate and Mrs. Riggs will be buried in the Crystal Valley Cemetery.

She was born Nov. 22, 1879, in Nebraska, and had been a resident here for 68 years. Mrs. Riggs and her first husband, Edgar B. Wilson, operated the Halfway House on Pikes Peak, and she later operated the Iron Springs for 42 years.

Mrs. Riggs was a member of the First Methodist Church and the Rebekah Lodge.

She is survived by her daughter Mrs. Evelyn Kile of Colorado Springs; four grandchildren, Betty, Sue, Patty and Billy Kile, all of Colorado Springs; a sister who lives in Denver and several nieces and nephews.

Abercrombie And Fitch Elect New Top Officers

Abercrombie and Fitch, which operates a store in the Broadmoor Hotel, today announced the election by its board of directors of Earle K. Angstadt Jr. as president and chief executive office. John H. Ewing, president since 1961, was named board chairman.

The new appointments are effective June 15.

Angstadt left Young and Rubican Inc., large New York Advertising agency, last month to take over the Abercrombie & Fitch post. At Young and Rubicam, Angstadt was senior vice president, heading one of the agency's six divisions dealing with national consumer accounts. His responsibility was the development and implementation of merchandising and marketing plans covering a broad consumer range. He joined Young and Rubicam in 1952. Before joining the agency, Angstadt was for six years with R. H. Macy & Co., Inc. where he was buyer and manager for several departments in the retail chain's New York headquarters.

Ewing has been with Abercrombie and Fitch since 1940, when he joined the firm as stock boy. He was elevated to several sales and merchandising positions before being elected vice president in 1956. Five years later he was made president.

Angstadt lives in Darien, Conn., with his wife and two daughters. He is a member of the Dartmouth Club of New York (class of 1946), the Tokeneke Club, the Woodway Gun Club and the Campfire Club of America.

Ewing's residence is in Peapack, N.J. He is married to the former Alison Pyne. The couple have three children. Ewing is national trustee of Ducks Unlimited, chairman of the Elder Craftsmen Shops and a New Jersey delegate to the Republican National Convention. He attended Trinity College, Hartford, Conn.

Angstadt, a former resident of West Reading, Penn., is the son of Farle K. Angstadt of Theo. C. Auman, Inc. and the late Katharine Auman Angstadt.

Abercrombie and Fitch operates stores the year - around in New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Short Hills, N.J., and Broadmoor. It operates summer stores in Bay Head, N.J.: Hyannis, Mass., and Southhampton, N.Y., and winter stores in Palm Beach and Sarasota, Fla.

HEADY AGREEMENT

Ware agreed to be hospitalized for a minor operation if he could keep his Stetson on — he, in turn, agreed not to wear his boots.

"I feel naked without the hat," Ware said.

Grain Price Decision Postponed in Europe

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Under West Geran pressure, the decision setting a single grain price scale for the European Common Market has been postponed until Dec. 15.

The West German delegation told the other five Common Market nations the Bonn Parliament would not approve the proposed scale since it would mean lowering the high German prices. A West German spokesman said there is no assurance his government will agree to the scale in December.

The market's executive commission said a single grain price is needed to negotiate lower trade barriers on farm goods.

George Murphy Advances in His Vote Lead

Murphy sang and danced in two decades of Hollywood musicals—and was usually the nice guy who didn't get the girl. GOP voters picked him Tuesday for the Senate race, and Murphy, 61 and gray, now a business executive, said he isn't going to change his style of campaigning.

"I've always been a good guy," he said.

"The late late shows haven't hurt me a bit. Just the other day a movie fan asked me, 'Didn't you used to be George Murphy?' "

Murphy will apparently oppose former White House press secretary Pierre Salinger, who held a substantial lead on the Democratic ticket.

Salinger said? "I've had the great fortune in the last few hours to see Mr. Murphy on television, and I think we can enjoy this campaign—because he stands for everything that would move this country backward.

"I concede that Mr. Murphy is a better tap dancer than I, but I know I can take him at the piano. Don't forget that one of our greatest presidents, Harry Truman, was a piano player.

Murphy won a clear-cut victory over industrialist Leland Kaiser and Fred Hall, former governor of Kansas.

He told his followers after returns showed him the winner: "This isn't going to be a contest of insults. It's going to be a contest of issues. I'll welcome those issues, but I won't trade insults with Mr. Salinger."

Tactics Shifted In Civil Rights Fight in Senate

B JOE HALL

Southerners stood by, saying they were ready to vote on some amendments, while the measure's backers took up the speaking chores.

Dixie senators called this a "counter-filibuster." But Senate leaders said the change of heart came too late, that all of their plans now were centered on the cloture vote set for next Tuesday.

If the bill's supporters muster the necessary two-thirds vote for cloture, all further debate will be limited tightly and leaders are confident the bill then can be passed by the third week in June.

"I have confidence in the action that the Senate will take," President Johnson told a news conference Tuesday. "I believe it will pass a good bill."

The Southerners, who have prevented voting on the bill except on two of the 69 days of debate so far, decided on their change of strategy at a caucus Tuesday.

But when their leader, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., announced this on the floor, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he saw no possibility of arranging votes this week now.

Mansfield said that the bill's sponsors would need considerable time to explain the revised version which Senate leaders expect to win the votes needed for cloture.

Assistant Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the bill's floor manager, told newsmen he would lead off with a speech explaining the substitute in detail today.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, chief author of the revised bill, had planned to do this but was ill with a heavy cold and deferred his speech. Mansfield co-sponsored the revisions with Dirksen.

Humphrey said he considered it significant that the Southerners did not announce their willingness to allow any votes until Mansfield and Dirksen announced Tuesday that a cloture petition would be filed Saturday.

Russell said his group was willing not only to vote before the cloture test on a pending amendment to assure jury trials in criminal contempt cases but also on others to assure that no one shall be subjected to double jeopardy by criminal proceedings in civil rights cases, to eliminate the equal employment opportunity title of the bill, and to knock out the title which would allow a cutoff of federal funds to projects where discrimination is practiced.

Six Incumbents Win Primary in Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Six incumbents and a newcomer won Democratic nomination to Congress Tuesday night, and Rep. Carl Elliott, target of a conservative purge, appeared headed for defeat.

Elliott, a member of the House Rules Committee, was running last in a nine-man field in Alabama's unique low-man-out congressional runoff. The candidates all ran statewide because of the legislature's failure to redistrict the state after loss of one House seat in the 1960 census. The candidate with the fewest votes is eliminated.

Elliott and State Sen. John Tyson, a newcomer, battled through the night to see which would escape elimination. With almost 75 per cent of the ballots counted, Tyson's lead over the last - place candidate began to widen.

Nominated were newcomer George Hawkins, also a state senator, and Reps. George Andrews, George Grant, Kenneth Roberts, Armistead Selden, Bob Jones and George Huddleston.

Rep. Albert Rains decided against seeking re-election.

FELINE MYSTERY

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Thunderhead, a long-haired Siamese, is undisputed ruler of the colony of 100 cats now being used in behavior and learning research at Pennsylvania State University. However, Thunderhead himself, needs a bit of researching, since neither of his parents was Siamese.

The cat colony is tightly-controlled and no strays or foundlings are permitted for fear of exposing the laboratory animals to virus and other infectious diseases.

Among the 41 signers of the Mayflower Compact there were 10 with the first name of John, five Edwards, four Williams, four Richards and four Thomases.
